Writer's Guide

Ideas and Content

Before you write, you need a main idea and a purpose. The main idea is what the writing will be about. The purpose may be to persuade someone, teach something, or make the reader laugh.

FOCUS

Everything you write should support your main idea. Use details that support the point you are trying to make.

Dear Aunt Ani,

Thank you so much for my great birthday present. The set of markers is terrific! I'll draw a picture just for you.

Jamie

A simple thank-you note has a main idea and a purpose.

Main Idea To say that you liked a present

Purpose
To thank Aunt Ani

Details Details add information. Words such as great, terrific, set of markers, and draw make the writing interesting.

Strategies for Choosing a Topic and Purpose

- Choose a topic you know or would like to learn about.
- Think about your purpose. A story about something funny that happened might make readers laugh. A letter could persuade them to do something.

A Match the number of each topic with the purpose that it fits best.

A Give information B Persuade C Make someone laugh

1. A funny day at the beach
2. How spiders make a web
3. Why we need school uniforms

B Read the paragraph. Write the numbers of the sentences with details that are not about the main idea.

4. Have you ever worn your slippers to school? 5. I was late yesterday and hurried out the door. 6. I get up at 7:00 every morning. 7. My slippers were a present from Grandma. 8. When I got on the bus, I saw my slippers on my feet. 9. I had to wear my slippers all day at school! 10. I have sneakers too. 11. Everyone thought that was pretty funny.

C Complete one main-idea sentence below. Then write three more sentences about the topic. Remember to use clear details.

- My favorite TV show is _____.
- The best book I ever read was _____.
- The best vacation I ever went on was _____.

Organization

A good writer tells what happened in the right order.
Your organization holds your writing together.

Here are some ways to organize your writing.

- a story with a beginning, middle, and end
- a paragraph that compares and contrasts
- a description
- a how-to explanation

Before you begin, think about how you will arrange your writing. For example, to write about your favorite and least favorite sports, comparison and contrast would be best. If you write about your winter vacation, a story form would work.

Once you decide, choose the details you want to use. Arrange your details from beginning to end.

GRAPHIC ORGANIZER
A graphic organizer such as a list, diagram, or chart will help you organize your ideas.

Strategies for Organizing Ideas

- Start or finish with the most important detail.
- Use order words such as first, later, last, and next.

A Match the number of the topic with the letter of the kind of organization that works best.

A Comparison-contrast C Story

B Description D How-to explanation

1. It Happened on Our Class Trip
2. How to Make Fruit Salad
3. My Very Tall Best Friend
4. Circus or Zoo: Which Is Better?

B Write the sentences. Number them so they are in the correct order to tell what happened. The first one is done for you.

- 1 Yesterday, we went to the dinosaur museum.
___ At the end of the day, we saw a dinosaur movie.
___ Then we saw fossils of leaves and fish.
___ First, we saw a huge dinosaur skeleton.

C Tell how you learned to do or make something new. Organize your details. Use order words such as first, now, next, and last.

Voice

Your writing style shows your voice. It tells how you feel and think about your topic. Your writer's voice shows that you know about and care about your topic. It lets you speak directly to the reader.
.....

- When I saw my new kitten, I was happy.
(weak voice)
- I squealed with delight when I saw that furry little face.
My new kitten made me happy. (strong voice)

Strategies for Developing a Writer's Voice

- Think about your readers and your reason for writing. Use a playful voice to write about a funny event. Use a more serious voice in a book report.
- Choose words that match your voice. In a letter to a friend, contractions or funny words would sound like your everyday voice. A letter to your principal would have a more serious voice.
- Your writing voice is a way that you can speak directly to your readers. Let readers know how you feel about a subject.

VOICE
Read your work to someone and ask if it sounds like you. If it doesn't, think of ways to show how you feel and think.

A Match each opening sentence with the letter of the reader it fits best.

- A My classmates
- B The museum director
- C My best friend Kara

1. Thank you for taking us on a tour of the dinosaur room.
2. I had a super time at your house yesterday!
3. Let's have a class party at the end of the year.

B Write S for the sentence that shows a strong voice. Write W for the sentence that shows a weak voice.

4. This is the best video game I ever had!
5. I baked a cake.

C Complete one of these opening sentences. Then add sentences to write a paragraph about that topic. Use a voice that fits your topic and talks to your readers.

- I like swimming because _____.
- Winter is my favorite season because _____.
- Don't you think a _____ should be our class pet?

Word Choice

Choose your words carefully to add style to your writing. Use exact nouns, strong verbs, and exciting adjectives to make your work interesting, clear, and lively.

- The pet of my friend is nice. (wordy and dull)
- My friend's Siamese cat plopped onto my lap. (lively and exact)

Strategies for Choosing the Right Words

- Choose exact nouns. (sandal instead of shoe)
- Use strong verbs. (clattered instead of “made a noise”)
- Replace dull words such as nice, bad, and thing with clear words. (“My head felt achy and hot” instead of “My head felt bad”)
- Include words that use our senses. (“The lemonade made my mouth pucker” instead of “The lemonade was good”)
- Don't be wordy. (because instead of “the reason was because”)
- Make your sentences come alive. (“The icicle dripped onto my head” instead of “The icicle was melting”)

WORDS WITH LIFE

Make your writing come alive with words such as pounded, crashed, sticky, and fuzzy.

A Choose the more exact word in () to complete each sentence. Write each sentence.

1. This caterpillar (moves, wiggles). 2. It feels (nice, fuzzy) in my hand. 3. It (goes, crawls) slowly up the tree. 4. The caterpillar makes a soft (thing, cocoon). 5. When it hatches, it is a (colorful, new) butterfly!

B Choose a word or words from the box to replace the underlined words. Write the sentences.

black
in the park

ladybug crawled tingly

- 6. Kim and Akira jogged somewhere.
- 7. Kim found a thing.
- 8. It looked shiny and had some spots.
- 9. It went up Kim's arm.
- 10. That felt nice.

C Write a description of an insect or animal you have seen. Use exciting words to make your writing come alive.

Sentences

Good writers use different kinds of sentences. This gives the writing a rhythm and style. A mix of short and longer sentences lets your writing flow.

Here are some ways to improve your sentences.

- Use all types of sentences to add style to your writing.
- Don't use only short, choppy sentences. Longer sentences can help your writing sound smooth and clear.
- Use different beginnings. Too many sentences that begin with I, she, the, or a can be boring for the reader.
- Combine short sentences with connecting words such as and, or, or but to make them flow better.

Strategies for Improving Your Sentences

Use a checklist as you edit your writing.

Circle sentences that begin with I, the, or a.

Underline short, choppy sentences.

List the different kinds of sentences you used.

Do many sentences begin with the same word?

Did you use too many statements instead of other kinds of sentences? Are your sentences mostly short and choppy?

A Use the connecting word in () to join the two sentences. Add a comma and change a capital letter. Write the sentences. The first one is done for you.

1. We wanted to go out, but it was raining. (but)
2. My puppy barked. He wagged his tail. (and)
3. Should I read my book? Should I take a nap? (or)

B Rearrange the words in each sentence so it begins with the underlined words. Write the paragraph.

Example: I cleaned my room last weekend.

Answer: Last weekend I cleaned my room.

4. I like to rake the leaves in the fall. 5. I make a huge pile on weekends and dive in. 6. I don't mind raking them again later.

C Write a description of a chore you do often. Use different kinds of sentences. Begin each sentence with a different word. Use connecting words to join short, choppy sentences.

Conventions

Conventions are the rules for writing. Capital letters show where a sentence begins. A period, a question mark, or an exclamation mark shows the end of a sentence. A new paragraph is indented. Grammar and spelling follow patterns.

- jack plast the babe roben bak in the nest (weak conventions)
- Jack placed the baby robin back in the nest. (strong conventions)

Strategies for Conventions in Writing

- Start each sentence with a capital letter. Finish sentences with an end punctuation mark.
- Each sentence should tell a complete idea. Subjects and verbs should agree.
- Change verb tenses only when the time changes in your writing.
- Special names should be capitalized correctly.
- Follow the rules for commas and other punctuation marks.

PROOFREADING MARKS
	New paragraph
	Capital letter
	Lowercase letter
	Correct the spelling.
	Add something.
	Remove something.

A Choose the correct word in () to complete each sentence. Write the sentences.

1. Skiing (is, are) my favorite sport.
2. (Me, I) like to turn on the soft snow.
3. We (will go, went) skiing every weekend next year.
4. Last year (we, us) skied every day.

PROOFREADING

Look carefully for mistakes. Use a ruler to check each line. Read from the end to the beginning to find misspelled words.

B Each sentence has one mistake. Correct the mistake and write the paragraph.

5. my first boat ride was exciting! 6. We skimmed the watr as the motor roared. 7. The boat pulled my dad on water skis? 8. Do you like boating as much as I do.

C Write two sentences about one of the topics below. Follow the rules for capitalization, punctuation, grammar, and spelling. Trade papers with a partner and proofread.

- My favorite room in school
- A hero I would like to meet
- A movie I would like to see

Using a Scoring Rubric

When is a writer's work excellent? When is it good or not good? One way to judge a piece of writing is to use a scoring rubric. A rubric is a checklist of qualities, or things to look for. See pages 6–17 for a discussion of these qualities.

SCORE	IDEAS/CONTENT	ORGANIZATION	VOICE	WORD CHOICE	SENTENCES	CONVENTIONS
4	Clear, detailed ideas on topic	Ideas easy to follow	Lively writing shows writer's feeling	Interesting, clear word pictures	Smooth sentences	Good spelling, grammar, punctuation
3	Clear ideas on topic, with some details	Information given in some order	Sometimes lively, and shows writer's feeling	Good word pictures	Most sentences smooth	Few mistakes in spelling, grammar, punctuation
2	Ideas not always clear or on topic, with few details	Little direction	Sometimes dull, with no feeling	Dull word pictures	Dull or choppy sentences	Many mistakes in spelling, grammar, punctuation
1	Ideas not clear or on topic, with no details	No direction	Dull, with no feeling	Incorrect, dull, or overused words	Hard to understand, not complete, or choppy	Too many mistakes in spelling, grammar, punctuation

Writing Models

Following are four responses to a prompt. Read the responses and the notes below them to see how each piece got its score.

Writing Prompt: Pretend you are a story character. Tell about what happened to you.

I am Corn Maiden, and I made the best pottery and dresses ever! One day I fell in love with Deer Hunter, and we got married. We were so happy that I forgot to make pottery and dresses, and Deer Hunter didn't hunt. Soon a man changed us to stars. Now we twinkle to remind people to do their work.

C Write a paragraph about your favorite dinosaur. Make a list of facts before writing. Use contractions to make your report less wordy.

Writing a Summary

Some tests may ask you to write a summary from a list of facts, a time line, or a chart. You will need to read the information carefully and use it in your own sentences. Follow the tips below.

GROUPING FACTS

In your summary, keep facts about the same topic together.

Long-Necked Dinosaurs

- About fifty feet long
- Huge size helped protect them
- Didn't eat other dinosaurs
- Ate plants and tree leaves
- Died out about 64 million years ago

Organize your ideas. How will you present the facts? Think about which facts you want to use first and which you will use at the end of your summary.

Write a good beginning. Write an interesting beginning sentence that makes your readers want to keep reading. Think of a topic sentence that presents the main idea clearly.

UNIT 5 WRITING FOR TESTS

Develop and elaborate ideas. Include all important information. Make sure the details support your main idea.

Write a strong ending. Write sentences that pull the information together. You might add your own feelings about your topic.

Check your work. Read your report. Make any changes.

See how the report below summarizes information.

1 — Which dinosaur is your favorite? My favorite is the long-necked dinosaur. Head to tail it was about fifty feet long. That's almost as tall as a three-story building! This dinosaur's huge size helped protect it from enemies. It didn't eat other dinosaurs. Instead it ate plants and tree leaves. These dinosaurs died about sixty-four million years ago. I think it is sad that now we can see these giant animals only in pictures and museums.

Write the letter of the sentence that does not belong with each group.

6. A The mural is in the front hall of our school.
 B My favorite subject is math.
 C It is the first thing you see when you enter the building.
7. A I can make great colors by mixing paints together.
 B Paint spilled on my favorite shirt.
 C First, I mix red and dark blue.
8. A I saw a rainbow on Main Street last week.
 B The principal painted a rainbow on the mural.
 C Who helped paint the colorful mural?

Writing Clear Paragraphs

Group sentences with the same topic into paragraphs to keep ideas clear.

- There is an empty lot next to our school, but it is filled with trash. Will you help us clean it up? Then we can all play ball there after school.

A Decide which sentence doesn't belong. Put the other sentences in order. Add a closing sentence. Then write the paragraph.

1. Let's volunteer to clean up the empty lot.
2. Then we'll put empty soda cans in garbage bags.
3. First, we'll pick up newspapers and other papers.
4. Mom cleaned her room when she was young.

B Write two sentences that give details about the topic.

5. Will you help me plant flowers in front of my building?
6. They will make the neighborhood look pretty.
7. We will water them every day.
8. _____
9. We will also give them special food.
10. _____

C Write an e-mail message persuading a family member to help you with a hobby. Put sentences with the same topic together to keep ideas clear.

Writing a Persuasive Letter

A test may ask you to write a persuasive letter. Support your ideas with examples, facts, and reasons. Use words such as should and most important. Follow the tips below.
.....

Understand the prompt. A prompt that asks you to write a persuasive letter could look like this:

Write a letter asking for something special.
Persuade your reader. Try to get the reader to see your side.

Key words are letter, persuade, and your side.

Find a good topic. Choose a subject that you feel strongly about. Make sure you can support your ideas with facts.

Organize your ideas. List the reasons for your argument.

ORDER

You might give your strongest reason first, or you might save it for last.

Getting a New Bike

My old bike is too small.
I worked and saved money.
I have enough money to buy a new bike.
A new bike will be safer.

UNIT 6 WRITING FOR TESTS

Write a good beginning. Tell the reader what you want in the first sentence.

Develop and elaborate ideas. Use facts to support your argument. Use words such as should or best.

Write a strong ending. Sum up your ideas and reasons.

Check your work. Read your letter. Make any changes.

See how the persuasive letter below follows the prompt. Facts and reasons support the argument.

Dear Grandpa,

1 — Would you take me to the bike shop? I've grown
2 — three inches, and I should have a bigger bike. I can 3 — pay for my new bike, but I can't go to the bike store alone. If we go on Saturday, Mom and I can bike to your house on Sunday. I'll be much safer on my new bike!

Love,
Dwight

1. The first sentence organizes the entire piece.
2. The writer supports the argument with facts and reasons.
3. A comma is used correctly to keep information clear.
4. Words such as should and safer are persuasive.
5. This ending sentence gives the strongest reason.
