Handbook of Definitions and Rules

PARTS OF SPEECH

Nouns

1. A singular noun is a word that names one person, place, thing, or idea: brother, classroom, piglet, and joy. A plural noun names more than one person, place, thing, or idea: brothers, classrooms, piglets, and joys.
2. To help you determine whether a word in a sentence is a noun, try adding it to the following sentences. Nouns will fit in at least one of these sentences:
I know something about _____. I know something about a(n) _____.
I know something about brothers. I know something about a classroom.
3. A collective noun names a group. When the collective noun refers to the group as a whole, it is singular. When it refers to the individual group members, the collective noun is plural.
The class meets two days a week. (singular)
The board of trustees come from all walks of life. (plural)
4. A common noun names a general class of people, places, things, or ideas: soldier, country, month, or theory. A proper noun specifies a particular person, place, thing, event, or idea. Proper nouns are always capitalized: General Schwartzkopf, America, July, or Big Bang.
5. A concrete noun names an object that occupies space or that can be recognized by any of the senses: tuba, music, potato, and aroma. An abstract noun names an idea, a quality, or a characteristic: courage, sanity, power, and memory.
6. A possessive noun shows possession, ownership, or the relationship between two nouns: Raul's house, the cat's fur, and the girls' soccer ball.

Pronouns

1. A pronoun takes the place of a noun, a group of words acting as a noun, or another pronoun.
2. A personal pronoun refers to a specific person or thing. First person personal pronouns refer to the speaker, second person pronouns refer to the one spoken to, and third person pronouns refer to the one spoken about.

	Nominative Case	Possessive Case	Objective Case
First Person, Singular	I	my, mine	me
First Person, Plural	we	our, ours	us
Second Person, Singular	you	your, yours	you
Second Person, Plural	you	your, yours	you
Third Person, Singular	he, she, it	his, her, hers, its	him, her, it
Third Person, Plural	they	their, theirs	them

3. A reflexive pronoun refers to the subject of the sentence. An intensive pronoun adds emphasis to a noun or another pronoun. A demonstrative pronoun points out specific persons, places, things, or ideas.
Reflexive: They psyched themselves up for the football game.
Intensive: Freddie himself asked Julie out.
Demonstrative: That is a good idea! Those are my friends.
4. An interrogative pronoun is used to form questions. A relative pronoun is used to introduce a subordinate clause. An indefinite pronoun refers to persons, places, or things in a more general way than a noun does.
Interrogative: Which is your choice? With whom were you playing video games?

Relative: The cake that we baked was delicious.

Indefinite: Everyone has already voted. No one should enter without knocking.

5. The antecedent of a pronoun is the word or group of words referred to by the pronoun. Ben rode his bike to school. (Ben is the antecedent of his.)

Verbs

1. A verb is a word that expresses action or a state of being and is necessary to make a statement. Most verbs will fit one or more of these sentences:

We _____. We _____ loyal. We _____ it. It _____.
 We sleep. We remain loyal. We love it! It snowed.

2. An action verb tells what someone or something does. The two types of action verbs are transitive and intransitive. A transitive verb is followed by a word or words that answer the question what? or whom? An intransitive verb is not followed by a word that answers what? or whom?

Transitive: Children trust their parents.

The puppy carried the bone away.

Intransitive: The team played poorly.

The light burned brightly.

3. A linking verb links, or joins, the subject of a sentence with an adjective, a noun, or a pronoun.
 The concert was loud. (adjective) I am a good card player. (noun)

4. A verb phrase consists of a main verb and all its auxiliary, or helping, verbs.
 My stomach has been growling all morning. I am waiting for a letter.

5. Verbs have four principal parts or forms: base, past, present participle, and past participle.

Base: I eat. Present Participle: I am eating.

Past: I ate. Past Participle: I have eaten.

6. The principal parts are used to form six verb tenses. The tense of a verb expresses time.

Simple Tenses

Present Tense: She eats. (present or habitual action)

Past Tense: She ate. (action completed in the past)

Future Tense: She will eat. (action to be done in the future)

Perfect Tenses

Present Perfect Tense: She has eaten. (action done at some indefinite time or still in effect)

Past Perfect Tense: She had eaten. (action completed before some other past action)

Future Perfect Tense: She will have eaten. (action to be completed before some future time)

7. Irregular verbs form their past and past participle without adding -ed to the base form.

PRINCIPAL PARTS OF IRREGULAR VERBS

Base	Past	Past Participle	Base	Past	Past Participle be	was, were	been	catch	caught	caught beat	beat	beaten	choose	chose	chosen become	became	become	come	came	come begin	began	begun	do	did	done
bite	bit	bitten or bit	draw	drew	drawn blow	blew	blown	drink	drank	drunk break	broke	broken	drive	drove	driven bring	brought	brought	eat	ate	eaten

Base Form	Past Form	Past Participle	Base Form	Past Form	Past Participle fall	fell	fallen	run	ran	run
feel	felt	felt	say	said	said
find	found	found	see	saw	seen fly	flew	flown	set	set	set
freeze	froze	frozen	shrink	shrank or shrunk	shrunk or shrunken get	got	got or gotten	sing	sang	sung give	gave	given	sit	sat	sat
go	went	gone	speak	spoke	spoken grow	grew	grown	spring	sprang or sprung	sprung hang	hung or hanged	hung or hanged	steal	stole	stolen have	had	had	swim	swam	swum know	knew	known	take	took	taken lay	laid	laid	tear	tore	torn lead	led	led	tell	told	told lend	lent	lent	think	thought	thought lie	lay	lain	throw	threw	thrown lose	lost	lost	wear	wore	worn put	put	put	win	won	won ride	rode	ridden	write	wrote	written ring	rang	rung
rise	rose	risen

8. Progressive forms of verbs, combined with a form of be, express a continuing action. Emphatic forms, combined with a form of do, add emphasis or form questions.

Kari is scratching the cat.

Loni has been washing the walls.

We do support our hometown heroes. (present)

He did want that dinner. (past)

9. The voice of a verb shows whether the subject performs the action or receives the action of the verb. The active voice occurs when the subject performs the action. The passive voice occurs when the action of the verb is performed on the subject.

The owl swooped upon its prey. (active) The ice cream was scooped by the cashier. (passive)

10. A verb can express one of three moods. The indicative mood makes a statement or asks a question. The imperative mood expresses a command or request. The subjunctive mood indirectly expresses a demand, recommendation, suggestion, statement of necessity, or a condition contrary to fact.

I am overjoyed. (indicative)

Stop the car. (imperative)

If I were angry, I would not have let you in. (subjunctive)

Adjectives

1. An adjective modifies a noun or pronoun by giving a descriptive or specific detail. Adjectives can usually show comparisons. (See Using Modifiers Correctly on pages 9 and 10.)

cold winter

colder winter

coldest winter

2. Most adjectives will fit this sentence:

The _____ one looks very _____.

The dusty one looks very old.

3. Articles are the adjectives a, an, and the. Articles do not meet the above test for adjectives.

4. A proper adjective is formed from a proper noun and begins with a capital letter.
Marijka wore a Ukrainian costume. He was a Danish prince.
5. An adjective used as an object complement follows and describes a direct object.
My aunt considers me funny.

Adverbs

1. An adverb modifies a verb, an adjective, or another adverb. Most adverbs can show comparisons. (See Using Modifiers Correctly on pages 9 and 10.)
 - a. Adverbs that tell how, where, when, or to what degree modify verbs or verbals.
The band stepped lively. (how) Maria writes frequently. (when) Put the piano here. (where) We were thoroughly entertained. (to what degree)
 - b. Adverbs of degree strengthen or weaken the adjectives or other adverbs that they modify.
A very happy fan cheered. (modifies adjective) She spoke too fast. (modifies adverb)
2. Many adverbs fit these sentences:
She thinks _____. She thinks _____ fast. She _____ thinks fast.
She thinks quickly. She thinks unusually fast. She seldom thinks fast.

Prepositions, Conjunctions, and Interjections

1. A preposition shows the relationship of a noun or a pronoun to some other word. A compound preposition is made up of more than one word.
The first group of students arrived. They skated in spite of the cold weather.
2. Some common prepositions include these: about, above, across, after, against, along, among, around, at, before, behind, below, beneath, beside, besides, between, beyond, but, by, concerning, down, during, except, for, from, into, like, near, of, off, on, out, outside, over, past, round, since, through, till, to, toward, under, underneath, until, up, upon, with, within, without.
3. A conjunction is a word that joins single words or groups of words. A coordinating conjunction joins words or groups of words that have equal grammatical weight. Correlative conjunctions work in pairs to join words and groups of words of equal weight. A subordinating conjunction joins two clauses in such a way as to make one grammatically dependent on the other.
Coordinating conjunction: He and I talked for hours.
Correlative conjunctions: Russ wants either a cat or a dog.
Subordinating conjunction: We ate lunch when it was ready.
4. A conjunctive adverb clarifies a relationship.
He did not like cold weather; nevertheless, he shoveled the snow.
5. An interjection is an unrelated word or phrase that expresses emotion or exclamation.
Wow, that was cool! Aha! You fell right into my trap!

PARTS OF THE SENTENCE

Subjects and Predicates

1. The simple subject is the key noun or pronoun that tells what the sentence is about. A compound subject is made up of two or more simple subjects that are joined by a conjunction and have the same verb.
My father snores. My mother and I can't sleep.

- The simple predicate is the verb or verb phrase that expresses the essential thought about the subject of the sentence. A compound predicate is made up of two or more verbs or verb phrases that are joined by a conjunction and have the same subject.
The night was cold. The elves sang and danced in the flower garden.
- The complete subject consists of the simple subject and all the words that modify it.
The bright lights of the city burned intensely. The warm, soothing fire kept us warm.
- The complete predicate consists of the simple predicate and all the words that modify it or complete its meaning.
Dinosaurs died out 65 million years ago. The sun provides heat for the earth.
- Usually the subject comes before the predicate in a sentence. In inverted sentences, all or part of the predicate precedes the subject.
There are two muffins on the plate. Over the field soared the glider.

Complements

- A complement is a word or group of words that complete the meaning of the verb. There are four kinds of complements: direct objects, indirect objects, object complements, and subject complements.
- A direct object answers what? or whom? after an action verb.
Sammi ate the turkey. (Sammi ate what?)
Carlos watched his sister in the school play. (Carlos watched whom?)
- An indirect object receives what the direct object names.
Marie wrote June a letter. George Washington gave his troops orders.
- A subject complement follows a subject and a linking verb and identifies or describes the subject. A predicate nominative is a noun or pronoun that follows a linking verb and further identifies the subject. A predicate adjective follows a linking verb and further describes the subject.
Predicate Nominative: The best football player is Jacob.
Predicate Adjective: The people have been very patient.
- An object complement describes or renames a direct object.
Object Complement: Ami found the man handsome.
Object Complement: Carlo thought the woman a genius.

PHRASES

- A phrase is a group of words that acts in a sentence as a single part of speech.
- A prepositional phrase is a group of words that begins with a preposition and usually ends with a noun or pronoun called the object of the preposition. A prepositional phrase can modify a noun or a pronoun, a verb, an adjective, or an adverb.
One of my favorite meals is pigs in a blanket. (modifies the noun pigs)
The supersonic jet soared into the sky. (modifies the verb soared)
The love of a household pet can be valuable for a family. (modifies the adjective valuable)
The child reads well for a six year old. (modifies the adverb well)
- An appositive is a noun or a pronoun that is placed next to another noun or pronoun to identify it or give more information about it. An appositive phrase is an appositive plus its modifiers.
My grandfather Géza takes me fishing. C.S. Lewis, my favorite author, lived in England.

4. A verbal is a verb form that functions in a sentence as a noun, an adjective, or an adverb. A verbal phrase is a verbal plus any complements and modifiers.
 - a. A participle is a verbal that functions as an adjective: Gary comforted the crying baby.
 - b. A participial phrase contains a participle plus any complements or modifiers: Thanking everyone, my uncle began to carve the turkey.
 - c. A gerund is a verbal that ends with -ing. It is used in the same way a noun is used: Skiing is a popular sport.
 - d. A gerund phrase is a gerund plus any complements or modifiers: Singing the national anthem is traditional at many sports events.
 - e. An infinitive is a verbal that is usually preceded by the word to. It is used as a noun, an adjective, or an adverb: I never learned to dance. (noun) She has an errand to run. (adjective) I will be happy to help. (adverb)
 - f. An infinitive phrase contains an infinitive plus any complements or modifiers: My father woke up to watch the news on television.
5. An absolute phrase consists of a noun or a pronoun that is modified by a participle or a participial phrase but has no grammatical relation to the sentence.
His legs terribly tired, Honori sat down.

CLAUSES AND SENTENCE STRUCTURE

1. A clause is a group of words that has a subject and a predicate and is used as a sentence or part of a sentence. There are two types of clauses: main and subordinate. A main clause has a subject and a predicate and can stand alone as a sentence. A subordinate clause has a subject and a predicate, but it cannot stand alone as a sentence.

main	sub.
------	------

The book bored me, until I read Chapter 5.
2. There are three types of subordinate clauses: adjective, adverb, and noun.
 - a. An adjective clause is a subordinate clause that modifies a noun or a pronoun.
The students who stayed after school for help did well on the test.
 - b. An adverb clause is a subordinate clause that modifies a verb, an adjective, or an adverb. It tells when, where, how, why, to what extent, or under what conditions.
When the sun set, everyone watched from the window. (modifies a verb)
Today is warmer than yesterday was. (modifies an adjective)
 - c. A noun clause is a subordinate clause used as a noun.
Who will become president has been declared. I now remember what I need to buy.
3. Main and subordinate clauses can form four types of sentences. A simple sentence has only one main clause and no subordinate clauses. A compound sentence has two or more main clauses. A complex sentence has one main clause and one or more subordinate clauses. A compound-complex sentence has more than one main clause and at least one subordinate clause.

	main
Simple:	The stars fill the sky.
	main main
Compound:	The plane landed, and the passengers left.
	sub. main
Complex:	Although the children found the letter, they couldn't read it.
	main main sub.
Compound-Complex:	The earth is bountiful; we may destroy it if we abuse it.

4. A sentence that makes a statement is classified as a declarative sentence: The Cleveland Browns are my favorite team. An imperative sentence gives a command or makes a request: Please go to the dance with me. An interrogative sentence asks a question: Who would abandon a family pet? An exclamatory sentence expresses strong emotion: Look out!

SUBJECT-VERB AGREEMENT

- A verb must agree with its subject in person and number.
Doli runs. (singular) Doli and Abay run. (plural)
He is singing. (singular) They are singing. (plural)
- In inverted sentences the subject follows the verb. The sentence may begin with a prepositional phrase, the words there or here, or the verb form of do.
Out of the bushes sprang the leopard. There is never enough time.
Do those pigs eat leftover food?
- Do not mistake a word in a prepositional phrase for the subject.
The boss of the employees works very hard. (The verb works tells the action of the boss.)
- Make the verb in a sentence agree with the subject, not with the predicate nominative.
Her problem was the twins. The twins were her problem.
- A title is always singular, even if nouns in the title are plural.
The War of the Worlds was a radio broadcast that caused widespread panic.
- Subjects combined with and or both use plural verbs unless the parts are of a whole unit. When compound subjects are joined with or or nor, the verb agrees with the subject listed last.
Chocolate, strawberry, and vanilla are common ice cream flavors.
Peanut butter and jelly is a good snack. Neither books nor a briefcase is needed.
- Use a singular verb if the compound subject is preceded by the words many a, every, or each.
Every dog and cat needs to be cared for. Many a young man has stood here.
- A subject remains singular or plural regardless of any intervening expressions.
Gloria, as well as the rest of her family, was late.
The players, accompanied by the coach, enter the field.
- A verb must agree in number with an indefinite pronoun subject.
Always singular: each, either, neither, one, everyone, everybody, everything, no one, nobody, nothing, anyone, anybody, anything, someone, somebody, and something.
Always plural: several, few, both, and many.
Either singular or plural: some, all, any, most, and none.
Is any of the lemonade left? Are any of the biscuits burnt?
- When the subject of an adjective clause is a relative pronoun, the verb in the clause must agree with the antecedent of the relative pronoun.
He is one of the singers who dance. (The antecedent of who is singers, plural: singers dance.)

USING PRONOUNS CORRECTLY

- Use the nominative case when the pronoun is a subject or a predicate nominative.
She eats cake. Is he here? That is I. (predicate nominative)

2. Use the objective case when the pronoun is an object.
Clarence invited us. (direct object) Chapa gave me a gift. (indirect object)
Spot! Don't run around me! (object of preposition)
3. Use the possessive case to replace possessive nouns and precede gerunds. Never use an apostrophe in a possessive pronoun.
That new car is hers. They were thrilled at his playing the violin.
4. Use the nominative case when the pronoun is a subject or a predicate nominative.
We three—Marijian, his sister, and I—went to camp.
5. Use the objective case to rename an object.
The teacher acknowledged us, Burny and me.
6. When a pronoun is followed by an appositive, choose the case of the pronoun that would be correct if the appositive were omitted.
We the jury find the defendant guilty. That building was erected by us workers.
7. In elliptical adverb clauses using than and as, choose the case of the pronoun that you would use if the missing words were fully expressed.
Kareem is a better sprinter than I. (I am) It helped you more than me. (it helped me)
8. Use a reflexive pronoun when it refers to the person who is the subject of the sentence. Avoid using hissself or theirselves.
Jerry found himself in a mess. The candidates questioned themselves about their tactics.
9. In questions, use who for subjects and whom for objects. Use who and whoever for subjects and predicate nominatives in subordinate clauses. Use the objective pronouns whom and whomever for objects of subordinate clauses.
Who roasted these marshmallows? Whom will you hire next?
This medal is for whoever finishes first.
The newspaper will interview whomever the editor chooses.
10. An antecedent is the word or group of words to which a pronoun refers or that a pronoun replaces. All pronouns must agree with their antecedents in number, gender, and person.
Colleen's friends gave up their free time to help. The Senate passed its first bill of the year.
11. Make sure that the antecedent of a pronoun is clearly stated.
VAGUE: The people who lost their dogs stayed in their yards, hoping they would return.
CLEAR: The people who lost their dogs stayed in their yards, hoping the dogs would return.

INDEFINITE: If you park the car under the sign it will be towed away.
CLEAR: If you park the car under the sign the car will be towed away.

USING MODIFIERS CORRECTLY

1. Most adjectives and adverbs have three degrees of form. The positive form of a modifier cannot be used to make a comparison. The comparative form of a modifier shows two things being compared. The superlative form of a modifier shows three or more things being compared.
The year went by fast. This year went by faster than last year.
I expect next year to go by the fastest of all.

2. One- and two-syllable adjectives add -er to form comparative and -est to form superlative.
- | | | | |
|--------------|---------|----------|-----------|
| POSITIVE: | bold | happy | strong |
| COMPARATIVE: | bolder | happier | stronger |
| SUPERLATIVE: | boldest | happiest | strongest |
3. For adverbs ending in -ly and modifiers with three or more syllables, use more and most or less and least to form the comparative and superlative degrees.
- He was the least exhausted of the group. She spoke more caringly than some others.
4. Some modifiers have irregular forms.
- | | | | | | |
|--------------|------------|------------|----------|------------|--------|
| POSITIVE: | good, well | badly, ill | far | many, much | little |
| COMPARATIVE: | better | worse | farther | more | less |
| SUPERLATIVE: | best | worst | farthest | most | least |
5. Do not make a double comparison using both -er or -est and more or most.
- INCORRECT: That musical was the most funniest I have ever seen.
CORRECT: That musical was the funniest I have ever seen.
6. Do not make an incomplete or unclear comparison by omitting other or else when you compare one member of a group with another.
- UNCLEAR: Joey has missed more school than any kid in the ninth grade.
CLEAR: Joey has missed more school than any other kid in the ninth grade.
7. Avoid double negatives, which are two negative words in the same clause.
- INCORRECT: I have not seen no stray cats.
CORRECT: I have not seen any stray cats.
8. For clarity, place modifiers as close as possible to the words they modify.
- MISPLACED: The fire was snuffed out by the storm that we accidentally started.
- CLEAR: The fire that we accidentally started was snuffed out by the storm.
- DANGLING: To avoid the long walk, a friend drove us.
- CLEAR: To avoid the long walk, we were driven by a friend.
9. Place the adverb only immediately before the word or group of words it modifies.
- Only Afi wants choir rehearsal next week. (No one but Afi wants rehearsal.)
Afi wants only choir rehearsal next week. (She wants no other rehearsal.)
Afi wants choir rehearsal only next week. (She does not want rehearsal any other week.)

COMPOSITION

Writing Themes and Paragraphs

1. Use prewriting to find ideas to write about. One form of prewriting, freewriting, starts with a subject or topic and branches off into related ideas. Another way to find a topic is to ask and answer questions about your starting subject, helping you to gain a deeper understanding of your chosen topic. Also part of the prewriting stage is determining who your readers or audience will be and deciding your purpose for writing. Your purpose—as varied as writing to persuade, to explain, to describe something, or to narrate—is partially shaped by who your audience will be, and vice versa.
2. To complete your first draft, organize your prewriting into an introduction, body, and conclusion. Concentrate on unity and coherence of the overall piece. Experiment with different paragraph orders: chronological order places events in the order in which they happened; spatial order places objects in the order in which they appear; and compare/contrast order shows similarities and differences in objects or events.
3. Revise your composition if necessary. Read through your draft, looking for places to improve content and structure. Remember that varying your sentence patterns and lengths will make your writing easier and more enjoyable to read.
4. In the editing stage, check your grammar, spelling, and punctuation. Focus on expressing your ideas clearly and concisely.
5. Finally, prepare your writing for presentation. Sharing your composition, or ideas, with others may take many forms: printed, oral, or graphic.

Outlining

1. The two common forms of outlines are sentence outlines and topic outlines. Choose one type of outline and keep it uniform throughout.
2. A period follows the number or letter of each division. Each point in a sentence outline ends with a period; the points in a topic outline do not.
3. Each point begins with a capital letter.
4. A point may have no fewer than two subpoints.

SENTENCE OUTLINE

- I. This is the main point.
 - A. This is a subpoint of I.
 1. This is a detail of A.
 - a. This is a detail of I.
 - b. This is a detail of I.
 2. This is a detail of A.
 - B. This is a subpoint of I.
- II. This is another main point.

TOPIC OUTLINE

- I. Main point
 - A. Subpoint of I
 1. Detail of A
 - a. Detail of I
 - b. Detail of I
 2. Detail of A
 - B. Subpoint of I
- II. Main point

Writing letters

1. Personal letters are usually handwritten in indented form (the first line of paragraphs, each line of the heading, the complimentary close, and the signature are indented). Business letters are usually typewritten in block or semiblock form. Block form contains no indents; semiblock form indents the heading, the complimentary close, and the signature.
2. The five parts of a personal letter are the heading (the writer's address and the date), the salutation (greeting), the body (message), the complimentary close (such as "Yours truly"), and the signature (the writer's name). The business letter has the same parts and also includes an inside address (the recipient's address).

PERSONAL LETTER

Heading _____ _____ _____ _____ Salutation _____ _____ _____ _____ Body _____ _____ _____ _____ _____ Complimentary Close _____ Signature _____

BUSINESS LETTER

Heading _____ _____ _____ Inside Address _____ _____ Salutation _____ _____ Body _____ _____ _____ _____ Complimentary Close _____ Signature _____

3. Reveal your personality and imagination in colorful personal letters. Keep business letters brief, clear, and courteous.
4. Personal letters include letters to friends and family members. Thank-you notes and invitations are personal letters that may be either formal or informal in style.
5. Use a letter of complaint to convey a concern. Begin the letter by telling what happened. Then use supporting details as evidence. Complete the letter by explaining what you want done. Avoid insults and threats, and make reasonable requests. Use a letter of request to ask for information or to place an order of purchase. Be concise, yet give all the details necessary for your request to be fulfilled. Keep the tone of your letter courteous and be generous in allotting time for a response.
6. Use an opinion letter to take a firm stand on an issue. Make the letter clear, firm, rational, and purposeful. Be aware of your audience, their attitude, how informed they are, and their possible reactions to your opinion. Support your statements of opinion with facts.
7. Use a résumé to summarize your work experience, school experience, talents, and interests. Be clear, concise, and expressive. Use a consistent form. You do not need to write in complete sentences, but use as many action verbs as possible.
8. Use a cover letter as a brief introduction accompanying your résumé.

Sentence Fragments

PROBLEM 1

Fragment that lacks a subject frag Ali baked a chocolate cake. (Took it to the party.)

frag Maria thought the comedian was funny. (Laughed at his jokes.)

SOLUTION

Ali baked a chocolate cake. He took it to the party.

Maria thought the comedian was funny. She laughed at his jokes.

Make a complete sentence by adding a subject to the fragment.

PROBLEM 2

Fragment that lacks a complete verb frag Helen is a photographer. (She becoming well-known for her work.)

frag Alicia has a new computer. (It very powerful.)

SOLUTION A

Helen is a photographer. She is becoming well-known for her work.

Alicia has a new computer. It is very powerful.

Make a complete sentence by adding a complete verb or a helping verb.

SOLUTION B

Helen is a photographer and is becoming well-known for her work.

Alicia has a new computer, which is very powerful.

Combine the fragment with another sentence.

PROBLEM 3

Fragment that is a subordinate clause frag Akira repaired the old boat. Because it was beautiful.

frag Jennifer has two race car magazines. Which she bought at the store.

SOLUTION A

Akira repaired the old boat because it was beautiful.

Jennifer has two race car magazines, which she bought at the store.

Combine the fragment with another sentence.

SOLUTION B

Akira repaired the old boat. It was beautiful.

Jennifer has two race car magazines. She bought them at the store.

Make the fragment a complete sentence by removing the subordinating conjunction or the relative pronoun and adding a subject or other words necessary to make a complete thought.

PROBLEM 4

Fragment that lacks both subject and verb frag The soft rustle of the trees makes me sleepy. In the afternoon.

frag The next morning. We talked about our adventure.

SOLUTION

The soft rustle of the trees makes me sleepy in the afternoon.

The next morning, we talked about our adventure.

Make the fragment part of a sentence.

More help in avoiding sentence fragments is available in Lesson 30.

Run-on Sentences

PROBLEM 1

Comma splice—two main clauses separated only by a comma run-on I don't know where the oil paints are, they were over by the easel.

SOLUTION A

I don't know where the oil paints are. They were over by the easel.

Make two sentences by separating the first clause from the second with end punctuation, such as a period or a question mark, and start the second sentence with a capital letter.

SOLUTION B

I don't know where the oil paints are; they were over by the easel.

Place a semicolon between the main clauses of the sentence.

SOLUTION C

I don't know where the oil paints are, but they were over by the easel.

Add a coordinating conjunction after the comma.

PROBLEM 2

No punctuation between two main clauses run-on Deelra ran the hurdles in record time Shawna placed second.

SOLUTION A

Deelra ran the hurdles in record time. Shawna placed second.

Make two sentences out of the run-on sentence.

SOLUTION B

Deelra ran the hurdles in record time; Shawna placed second.

Separate the main clauses with a semicolon.

SOLUTION C

Deelra ran the hurdles in record time, but Shawna placed second.

Add a comma and a coordinating conjunction between the main clauses.

PROBLEM 3

Two main clauses without a comma before the coordinating conjunction run-on The robins usually arrive in the spring and they start building nests at once.

run-on Emily won the scholarship last year but she decided not to accept it.

SOLUTION

The robins usually arrive in the spring, and they start building nests at once.

Emily won the scholarship last year, but she decided not to accept it.

Separate the main clauses by adding a comma before the coordinating conjunction.

More help in avoiding run-on sentences is available in Lesson 31.

Lack of Subject-Verb Agreement

PROBLEM 1

A prepositional phrase between a subject and its verb

agr The arrangement of those colorful pictures make a vivid, exciting combination.

agr One of those big, gray seagulls have perched on the roof.

SOLUTION

The arrangement of those colorful pictures makes a vivid, exciting combination.

One of those big, gray seagulls has perched on the roof.

Make the verb agree with the subject, not with the object of the preposition.

PROBLEM 2

A predicate nominative differing in number from the subject agr Fast-paced adventure movies was always Jenny's choice.

SOLUTION

Fast-paced adventure movies were always Jenny's choice.

Make the verb agree with the subject, not with the predicate nominative.

PROBLEM 3

A subject following the verb

agr On the sun deck there was several chairs and a table.

agr Here comes the rain clouds and the heavy, slanting rain.

SOLUTION

On the sun deck there were several chairs and a table.
Here come the rain clouds and the heavy, slanting rain.

Look for the subject after the verb in an inverted sentence. Make sure that the verb agrees with the subject.

PROBLEM 4

Collective nouns as subjects

agr The crowd really like the music, doesn't it?

agr Margaret's company arrives tomorrow by bus and by train.

SOLUTION A

The crowd really likes the music, doesn't it?

Use a singular verb if the collective noun refers to a group as a whole.

SOLUTION B

Margaret's company arrive tomorrow by bus and by train.

Use a plural verb if the collective noun refers to each member of a group individually.

PROBLEM 5

A noun of amount as the subject

agr The past two days seems like a week.

agr One thousand millimeters equal a meter.

SOLUTION

The past two days seem like a week.

One thousand millimeters equals a meter.

A noun of amount that refers to one unit is singular. A noun of amount that refers to a number of individual units is plural.

PROBLEM 6Compound subject joined by and agr A clear day and a light breeze brightens a summer afternoon.

agr Pop and pizza are a common meal.

SOLUTION A

A clear day and a light breeze brighten a summer afternoon.

Use a plural verb if the parts of the compound subject do not belong to one unit or if they refer to different people or things.

SOLUTION B

Pop and pizza is a common meal.

Use a singular verb if the parts of the compound subject belong to one unit or if they refer to the same person or thing.

PROBLEM 7Compound subject joined by or or nor agr Neither Yuri nor Sarah like the menu.

SOLUTION

Neither Yuri nor Sarah likes the menu.

Make your verb agree with the subject closer to it.

PROBLEM 8Compound subject preceded by many a, every, or each agr Many a brush and tube of paint were scattered around the studio.

SOLUTION

Many a brush and tube of paint was scattered across the studio.

The subject is considered singular when many a, each, or every precedes a compound subject.

PROBLEM 9Subjects separated from the verb by an intervening expression agr Jamal's new sculpture, in addition to his other recent works, reflect his abiding love of nature.

SOLUTION

Jamal's new sculpture, in addition to his other recent works, reflects his abiding love of nature.

Expressions that begin with as well as, in addition to, and together with, do not change the number of the subject. Make the verb agree with its subject, not with the intervening expression.

PROBLEM 10Indefinite pronouns as subjects

agr Each of the trees along the old canal have different colors in the fall.

SOLUTION

Each of the trees along the old canal has different colors in the fall.

Some indefinite pronouns are singular, some are plural, and some can be either singular or plural depending on the noun they refer to. (A list of indefinite pronouns is on page 54.)

More help with subject-verb agreement is available in Lessons 44–52.

Lack of Agreement Between Pronoun and Antecedent

PROBLEM 1

A singular antecedent that can be either male or female ant A great coach inspires his athletes to be their best on or off the field.

Traditionally, masculine pronouns referred to antecedents that might have been either male or female.

SOLUTION A

A great coach inspires his or her athletes to be their best on or off the field.

Use he or she, him or her, and so on, to reword the sentence.

SOLUTION B

Great coaches inspire their athletes to be their best on or off the field.

Make both the antecedent and the pronoun plural.

SOLUTION C

Great coaches inspire athletes to be their best on or off the field.

Eliminate the pronoun.

PROBLEM 2

A second-person pronoun that refers to a third-person antecedent ant Mary and Jodi prefer the new bridle trail because you get long stretches for galloping.

Do not use the second-person pronoun you to refer to an antecedent in the third person.

SOLUTION A

Mary and Jodi prefer the new bridle trail because they get long stretches for galloping.

Replace you with the appropriate third-person pronoun.

SOLUTION B

Mary and Jodi prefer the new bridle trail because the horses have long stretches for galloping.

Replace you with an appropriate noun.

PROBLEM 3

Singular indefinite pronouns as antecedents ant Each of the women in the boat received a rowing medal for their victory.

SOLUTION

Each of the women in the boat received a rowing medal for her victory.

Determine whether the antecedent is singular or plural, and make the personal pronoun agree with it.

More help with pronoun-antecedent agreement is available in Lessons 57–59.

Unclear Pronoun References

PROBLEM 1

Unclear antecedent

ref The wind was fair and the water calm, and that made sailing across the bay an absolute pleasure.

ref The traffic was snarled, which was caused by an accident.

SOLUTION A

The wind was fair and the water calm, and those conditions made sailing across the bay an absolute pleasure.

Substitute a noun for the pronoun.

SOLUTION B

The traffic was snarled in a massive tie-up, which was caused by an accident.

Rewrite the sentence, adding a clear antecedent for the pronoun.

PROBLEM 2

A pronoun that refers to more than one antecedent ref The team captain told Karen to take her guard position.

ref The buses came early for the students, but they were not ready.

SOLUTION A

The team captain told Karen to take the captain's guard position.

Substitute a noun for the pronoun.

SOLUTION B

Because the buses came early, the students were not ready.

Rewrite the sentence, eliminating the pronoun.

PROBLEM 3Indefinite uses of you or they ref In those hills you rarely see mountain lions.

ref In some movies they have too much violence.

SOLUTION A

In those hills hikers rarely see mountain lions.

Substitute a noun for the pronoun.

SOLUTION B

Some movies have too much violence.

Eliminate the pronoun entirely.

More help in making clear pronoun references is available in Lesson 60.

Shifts in Pronouns

PROBLEM 1

Incorrect shift in person between two pronouns

- pro* They went to the stadium for the game, but you could not find a place to park.
- pro* One needs to remember to always keep their study time free from other commitments.
- pro* We were on the hill at dawn, and you could see the most wondrous sunrise.

Incorrect pronoun shifts occur when a writer or speaker uses a pronoun in one person and then illogically shifts to a pronoun in another person.

SOLUTION A

They went to the stadium for the game, but they could not find a place to park.

One needs to remember to always keep one's study time free from other commitments.

Replace the incorrect pronoun with a pronoun that agrees with its antecedent.

SOLUTION B

We were on the hill at dawn, and Mary and I could see the most wondrous sunrise.

Replace the incorrect pronoun with an appropriate noun.

More help in eliminating incorrect pronoun shifts is available in Lesson 58.

Shift in Verb Tenses

PROBLEM 1

Unnecessary shifts in tense shift t Akira waits for the bus and worked on the computer.

shift t Jenny hit the home run and runs around the bases.

Two or more events occurring at the same time must have the same verb tense.

SOLUTION

Akira waits for the bus and works on the computer.

Jenny hit the home run and ran around the bases.

Use the same tense for both verbs.

PROBLEM 2

Tenses do not indicate that one event precedes or succeeds another shift t By the time the movie finally started, we waited impatiently through ten minutes of commercials.

If events being described occurred at different times, shift tenses to show that one event precedes or follows another.

SOLUTION

By the time the movie finally started, we had waited impatiently through ten minutes of commercials.

Use the past perfect tense for the earlier of two actions to indicate that one action began and ended before another action began.

More help with shifts in verb tenses is available in Lessons 37–39 and 41.

Incorrect Verb Tenses or Forms

PROBLEM 1

Incorrect or missing verb endings tense Ricardo said it snow last night.

tense Karen and her family travel to Costa Rica last year.

SOLUTION

Ricardo said it snowed last night.

Karen and her family traveled to Costa Rica last year.

Regular verbs form the past tense and the past participle by adding -ed.

PROBLEM 2

Improper formation of irregular verbs

tense The sun rised out of scarlet clouds into a clear, blue sky.

SOLUTION

The sun rose out of scarlet clouds into a clear, blue sky.

An irregular verb forms its past tense and past participle in some way other than by adding -ed.

PROBLEM 3

Confusion between the past form of the verb and the past participle tense The horses have ate their feed already.

tense The coach has wore the old team jacket to every graduation.

SOLUTION

The horses have eaten their feed already.

The coach has worn the old team jacket to every graduation.

When you use the auxiliary verb have, use the past participle form of an irregular verb, not its simple past form.

PROBLEM 4Improper use of the past participle

tense Deemee drawn the winning ticket for the door prize at the dance.

tense The old rowboat sunk just below the surface of the lake.

Past participles of irregular verbs cannot stand alone as verbs. They must be used in conjunction with a form of the auxiliary verb have.

Deemee had drawn the winning ticket for the door prize at the dance.

The old rowboat had sunk just below the surface of the lake.

Form a complete verb by adding a form of the auxiliary verb have to the past participle.

Deemee drew the winning ticket for the door prize at the dance.

The old rowboat sank just below the surface of the lake.

Use the simple past form of the verb instead of the past participle.

More help with correct verb forms is available in Lessons 35, 36, and 40.

Misplaced or Dangling Modifiers

PROBLEM 1

Misplaced modifier

mod Untended and overgrown since last summer, Marlene helped Keshia in her garden.

mod Sarah won the jumping contest with her mother's horse, wearing western riding gear.

SOLUTION

Marlene helped Keshia in her garden, untended and overgrown since last summer.

Wearing western riding gear, Sarah won the jumping contest with her mother's horse.

Place the modifying phrase as close as possible to the word or words it modifies.

PROBLEM 2

Misplacing the adverb only mod Akiko only runs hurdles in track.

SOLUTION

Only Akiko runs hurdles in track.

Akiko runs only hurdles in track.

Akiko runs hurdles only in track.

Each time only is moved in the sentence, the meaning of the sentence changes. Place the adverb immediately before the word or group of words it is to modify.

PROBLEM 3

Dangling modifiers

- mod* Branches swaying in the breeze, we rested in the shade.
- mod* Trying out the new exercise equipment, the new gym is a great improvement over the old one.

A dangling modifier does not modify any word in the sentence.

SOLUTION

Branches swaying in the breeze, the tree provided us with shade.

Trying out the new exercise equipment, Mary said the new gym is a great improvement over the old one.

Add a noun to which the dangling phrase clearly refers. You might have to add or change other words, as well.

More help with misplaced or dangling modifiers is available in Lesson 66.

Misplaced or Missing Possessive Apostrophes

PROBLEM 1

Singular nouns

poss Charles car is the white one, but Jamals is the red convertible.

SOLUTION

Charles's car is the white one, but Jamal's is the red convertible.

To form the possessive of a singular noun, even one that ends in -s, use an apostrophe and an -s at the end of the word.

PROBLEM 2

Plural nouns that end in -s poss The seven maple trees cool, delicious shade is the best in the park.

SOLUTION

The seven maple trees' cool, delicious shade is the best in the park.

To form the possessive of a plural noun that ends in -s, use an apostrophe by itself after the final -s.

PROBLEM 3

Plural nouns that do not end in -s poss The childrens movies are on that rack next to the nature films.

SOLUTION

The children's movies are on that rack next to the nature films.

Form the possessive of a plural noun that does not end in -s by using an apostrophe and -s at the end of the word.

PROBLEM 4

Pronouns

poss That painting cannot be just anybody's work.

poss Their's is the trophy in the center of the display case.

SOLUTION A

That painting cannot be just anybody's work.

Form the possessive of a singular indefinite pronoun by adding an apostrophe and -s to it.

SOLUTION B

Theirs is the trophy in the center of the display case.

With any of the possessive personal pronouns, do not use an apostrophe.

PROBLEM 5

Confusing its with it's poss The computer is booting up; I see it's power light blinking.

poss Its going to be a great victory party.

SOLUTION

The computer is booting up; I see its power light blinking.

It's going to be a great victory party.

It's is the contraction of it is, not the possessive of it.

More help with apostrophes and possessives is available in Lessons 3 and 92.

Missing Commas with Nonessential Elements

PROBLEM 1

Missing commas with nonessential participles, infinitives, and their phrases

com Lois scowling fiercely turned her back on Clark.

com The detective mystified by the fresh clue scratched his head in bewilderment.

com Television to tell the truth just doesn't interest me.

SOLUTION

Lois, scowling fiercely, turned her back on Clark.

The detective, mystified by the fresh clue, scratched his head in bewilderment.

Television, to tell the truth, just doesn't interest me.

If the participle, infinitive, or phrase is not essential to the meaning of the sentence, set off the phrase with commas.

PROBLEM 2

Missing commas with nonessential adjective clauses

com The sailboat which looked like a toy in the storm rounded the point into the breakwater.

SOLUTION

The sailboat, which looked like a toy in the storm, rounded the point into the breakwater.

If the clause is not essential to the meaning of the sentence, set it off with commas.

PROBLEM 3

Missing commas with nonessential appositives

com The palomino, a beautiful horse with almost golden hair, is often seen in parades.

SOLUTION

The palomino, a beautiful horse with almost golden hair, is often seen in parades.

If the appositive is not essential to the meaning of the sentence, set it off with commas.

PROBLEM 4

Missing commas with interjections and parenthetical expressions

com Wow, did you see that falling star?

com I would have told you, by the way, but you weren't home.

SOLUTION

Wow, did you see that falling star?

I would have told you, by the way, but you weren't home.

Set off the interjection or parenthetical expression with commas.

More help with commas and nonessential elements is available in Lesson 80.

Missing Commas in a Series

PROBLEM 1

Commas missing in a series of words, phrases, or clauses

- s com Mona said that Amy Tan, James Baldwin, and Charles Dickens were her favorite authors.
- s com Sailing on the Great Lakes can be as challenging, adventurous, and rewarding as sailing on the ocean.
- s com Our forensics team practiced hard, did their research, and used all their wit and intelligence to win the championship.
- s com The wind shifted, the clouds parted, and the sunlight streamed down.

SOLUTION

Mona said that Amy Tan, James Baldwin, and Charles Dickens were her favorite authors.

Sailing on the Great Lakes can be as challenging, adventurous, and rewarding as sailing on the ocean.

Our forensics team practiced hard, did their research, and used all their wit and intelligence to win the championship.

The wind shifted, the clouds parted, and the sunlight streamed down.

Use a comma after each item in a series except the last.

More help with commas is available in Lessons 78–86.

Lesson 3Pronouns: Personal, Possessive, Reflexive, and Intensive

A pronoun takes the place of a noun, a group of words acting as a noun, or another pronoun. We call the word or group of words that a pronoun refers to its antecedent.

A personal pronoun refers to a specific person or thing by indicating the person speaking (the first person), the person being addressed (the second person), or any other person or thing being discussed (the third person).

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
First Person:	I, me	we, us
Second Person:	you	you
Third Person:	he, him, she, her, it	they, them

A possessive pronoun shows possession or control. It takes the place of a possessive noun.

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
First Person:	my, mine	our, ours
Second Person:	your, yours	your, yours
Third Person:	his, her, hers, its	their, theirs

► Exercise 1 Draw one line under each personal pronoun and two lines under each possessive pronoun.

18. Your new puppy looks as if it will turn out to be a beautiful, large dog.
19. Our gardener gave the flower garden his special attention this morning.
20. My history teacher took us on a tour of her favorite places in the museum.

A reflexive pronoun refers to a noun or another pronoun and indicates that the same person or thing is involved. An intensive pronoun adds emphasis to a noun or another pronoun. Reflexive and intensive pronouns look alike. Their usage reveals the difference.

Otto reminded himself not to forget the party. (reflexive)

Otto himself told me he was coming to the party. (intensive)

9. The old house itself served as an inn before our family bought it twenty years ago.
10. I told myself again and again not to forget those keys!

Lesson 4

Pronouns: Interrogative, Relative, Demonstrative, and Indefinite

Use an interrogative pronoun to form questions. Interrogative pronouns are who, whom, whose, what, and which. Other interrogative pronouns are whoever, whomever, whatever, and whichever.

Whatever gave you that absurd notion?

Use a relative pronoun to begin a subject-verb word group called a subordinate clause.

The last senator who stabbed Caesar was his friend Brutus.

RELATIVE PRONOUNS

who	whom	what	which	that whoever	whomever	whatever	whichever	whose ► Exercise 1 Draw one line under each interrogative pronoun and two lines under each relative pronoun.

Who would have imagined how some of the famous car designers started out?

1. Frederick Henry Royce, who as a boy served as an apprentice on the Great Northern Railroad, later started his own company.

12. He was the other person for whom the cars came to be named—Charles Stewart Rolls.

A demonstrative pronoun points out specific persons, places, things, or ideas.

That is a great idea, Charley.

DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUNS

Singular: this that Plural: these those

An indefinite pronoun refers to persons, places, or things in a more general way than does a noun or a personal pronoun.

Each of the winners chose his or her own prize.

INDEFINITE PRONOUNS

all	both	everything	none	some another	each	few	nothing	somebody any	either	many	one	someone anybody	enough	most	other	something anyone	everybody	neither	others anything	everyone	nobody	several

ind.

► Writing Link Write a brief paragraph about what you might do after school today. Be sure to use auxiliary verbs along with main verbs.

Lesson 8

Adjectives

An adjective modifies a noun or a pronoun by limiting its meaning. Adjectives include the articles a, an, and the. A and an are indefinite articles; the is a definite article. Because they modify nouns, possessive nouns and some possessive pronouns are considered adjectives as well.

The raging river roars through this narrow gorge. Al's used car resembles my car.

A proper adjective is formed from a proper noun and begins with a capital letter. Proper adjectives are often created by using the following suffixes: -an, -ian, -n, -ese, and -ish.

American

Chinese

English

Many adjectives have different forms to indicate their degree of comparison.

POSITIVE	COMPARATIVE	SUPERLATIVE
big	bigger	biggest (regular forms of comparison)
little	less	least (Some adjectives have irregular forms of comparison.)

► Exercise 1 Underline each adjective in the following sentences. Include articles and possessive nouns and pronouns.

Ancient mariners traveled to far places.

- In 120 B.C., a nearly drowned sailor washed ashore on an Egyptian beach.
- The local authorities taught him the Greek language, as they had little luck in understanding his speech.
- They found out that the foreign mariner had come farther than any of them imagined.
- He had sailed from remote India, and he maintained he could prove this amazing statement.

32. Researchers believe that the ancient Chinese smiths learned how to cast both bronze and iron from the fine craftspeople who practiced the art of ceramics.

Lesson 9

Adverbs

An adverb modifies a verb, an adjective, or another adverb by making its meaning more specific. Adverbs answer the questions how? when? where? and to what degree? When modifying a verb, an adverb may appear in various positions in a sentence. If modifying an adjective or another adverb, an adverb appears directly before the modified word.

Shani said she really wanted to meet the very famous actor backstage yesterday.

The negatives no and not and the contraction -n't are adverbs. Other negative words, such as nowhere, hardly, and never, can function as adverbs of time, place, and degree.

My dad never loses his temper. Haven't you chosen the menu yet?

► Exercise 1 Underline each adverb, and draw an arrow from each adverb to the word it modifies.

Unit 3: Phrases

Lesson 18

Prepositional Phrases

A prepositional phrase is a group of words that begins with a preposition and usually ends with a noun or a pronoun, called the object of the preposition. Adjectives and other modifiers may be placed between the preposition and its object. A preposition may have more than one object.

He put the note into his pocket. (Pocket is the object of the preposition into.)

Prepositional phrases may occur sequentially in a sentence.

He put the note into the pocket of his shirt.

A prepositional phrase is usually used as an adjective or an adverb. When it is used as an adjective, it modifies a noun or a pronoun. When it is used as an adverb, it modifies an adjective, a verb, or another adverb.

We read the book about the West. (adjective phrase modifying the noun book)

Who around town could help us hang posters? (adjective phrase modifying the pronoun who)

She parks her new car in the garage. (adverb phrase modifying the verb parks)

13. Over a period of several years, Grandmother has collected dolls from her travels in many countries.
14. Our team picnic will be held inside the shelter house.
15. The plumber found the problem with the pipes under the sink.

Lesson 19Participles and Participial Phrases; Absolute Phrases

A participle is a verb form that can function as an adjective. It modifies a noun or a pronoun.

A blooming plant sat on the desk. (The participle blooming modifies the noun plant.)

Present participles end in -ing. Past participles usually end in -ed, although there are other forms. Many familiar adjectives are in fact participles.

In the driving snow, the world was invisible. The handwritten text was hard to read.

When a participle is part of a verb phrase, it does not function as an adjective.

The baked chicken is ready to eat. (adjective) The chicken has been baked. (verb)

A participle with its complements and modifiers is called a participial phrase. A participial phrase that begins a sentence is usually followed by a comma. A participial phrase that appears in the middle or at the end of a sentence is set off by commas only if it is not essential to the meaning of the sentence.

Charging with all his might, the quarterback plowed through the defense.

The quarterback sporting the number 12 is my sister. (essential)

My sister, playing for the home team, never misses a football game. (nonessential)

► Exercise 1 Underline each participle, participial phrase, or verb phrase. Write adj. if it functions as an adjective or V if it functions as a verb.

- adj. A soaring bird is a glorious sight.
- _____ 1. We collected used clothing for the local American Red Cross drive.

- _____ 11. The struggling artist cheerfully sold her painting.
- _____ 12. The advertised price is higher than my limit.

- _____ 13. Mr. Munson has studied the stock market for several years.
- _____ 14. The written word is a powerful tool.
- _____ 15. At your request, I have investigated possible locations for our annual company party.

An absolute phrase consists of a noun or a pronoun that is modified by a participle or a participial phrase but has no grammatical relation to the rest of the sentence.

Computers having become common, manufacturers report fewer typewriter sales. (The participial phrase having become common modifies the noun computers.)

The race (being) over, the runners sat in the shade to cool down. (The participle being is often understood rather than stated.)

► Exercise 2 Underline each absolute phrase.

The young writer having sold her first story, her mentor decided to throw her a party.

1. The adventurer having just climbed Mt. Everest, his book became a best-seller.
2. Mike's salary was lower, but his take-home pay was higher than at his old job, the insurance premium being paid by his new employer.

13. Zero gravity conditions are good for producing some medicines and other products.

14. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, or NASA, has responsibility for exploring space for peaceful purposes.
15. Working with NASA is certain to become a reality for several of my classmates.

An appositive is a noun or pronoun that is placed next to another noun or pronoun to identify it or give additional information about it.

My brother Frank has red hair. (Frank identifies brother.)

An appositive phrase is an appositive plus any words that modify it. Commas should be used to set off an appositive or appositive phrase that is not essential to the meaning of the sentence.

Mrs. Robinson, a woman of humble origins, now owns a large retail chain. (A woman of humble origins gives additional information about Mrs. Robinson. It is not essential to the meaning of the sentence.)

► Exercise 2 Underline each appositive and appositive phrase.

8. Probes of Mars, the planet most like Earth, help us understand our own planet.
9. Voyager 1 and Voyager 2 were probes that photographed the planet Jupiter.
10. Few countries have launch sites, points from which a rocket can carry a satellite into space.

Lesson 21

Infinitives and Infinitive Phrases

An infinitive is a verb form that is preceded by the word to and is used as a noun, an adjective, or an adverb. If to precedes the base form of the verb, it is part of an infinitive, not a preposition.

To fly in my own plane is one of the greatest thrills I have known. (infinitive as subject)

My father loves to drive through the country. (infinitive as direct object)

Our goal is to build twenty birdhouses by the end of the week. (infinitive as predicate nominative.)

Are you ready to go? (infinitive as adverb)

An infinitive with its complements and modifiers is called an infinitive phrase.

To write with great clarity has been my goal for many years.

► Exercise 1 Underline each infinitive and infinitive phrase.

20. His sister gathers herbs to send to a pharmaceutical company that will use them to make medicines.
21. People have spent millions of dollars to destroy the dandelion.
22. Early colonists were eager to bring this little flowering plant to North America because of its many beneficial properties.
23. Dandelions, able to bloom for a long season, provided a good food source for the honey bees that the colonists wanted to keep.
24. Native Americans came to see the dandelion as a healing herb.
25. The Mohicans used the leaves to make a tonic, and other tribes used the roots to relieve heartburn.
26. My cousin uses the leaves to create gourmet salads, which are also quite nutritious.

Lesson 22Distinguishing Participial, Gerund, and Infinitive Phrases

Participles, gerunds, and infinitives are called verbals because they are verb forms that function in other ways in a sentence.

A participle is a verb form that functions as an adjective. Present participles end in -ing. Past participles usually end in -ed. A participial phrase is a participle plus any complements and modifiers. For examples of participles and participial phrases, see Lesson 19.

A gerund is a verb form that ends in -ing and functions as a noun in the sentence. A gerund phrase is a gerund plus any complements and modifiers. For examples of gerunds and gerund phrases, see Lesson 20.

An infinitive is made from the base form of the verb, which is nearly always preceded by the word to. An infinitive phrase is an infinitive plus any complements and modifiers. For examples of infinitive and infinitive phrases, see Lesson 21.

► Exercise 1 Identify the italicized word or phrase. Write P for participle, G for gerund, or I for infinitive.

Unit 4: Clauses and Sentence Structure

Lesson 23

Main and Subordinate Clauses

A main clause is a group of words that contains a complete subject and a complete predicate. Also known as an independent clause, a main clause can stand alone as a complete sentence.

Many people wait on the bus.

A subordinate clause also contains a subject and a predicate but cannot stand alone. Because it depends on a main clause to make sense, it is also known as a dependent clause. Usually, a subordinating conjunction introduces a subordinate clause, although it may begin with a relative pronoun (such as who, whose, whom, which, that, or what) or a relative adverb (such as when, where, or why). In some subordinate clauses, the connecting word also serves as the subject of the clause.

Many people wait on the bus while the driver repairs it.

Will the gentleman who paged Mrs. Trotter please pick up the courtesy phone? (The relative pronoun who, which connects the clauses, is the subject of the subordinate clause.)

SUBORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS

Time:	after, as, as soon as, before, since, until, when, whenever, while
Place:	where, wherever
Manner:	as, as if, as though
Cause:	as, because, inasmuch as, since, so that
Concession:	although, even though, though
Condition:	if, unless

► Exercise 1 Check (✓) the blank before each sentence that contains a subordinate clause.

► Writing Link Write a brief paragraph about your favorite season of the year. Use at least two subordinate clauses.

Lesson 24Simple and Compound Sentences

A simple sentence has one complete subject and one complete predicate. The subject, the predicate, or both, may be compound.

SUBJECTLong strands of pearlsPansies and lilacsSeveral dogs*PREDICATE*were looped around the door wreath.filled the flower boxes.sniffed and searched through the loose garbage.

Two or more simple sentences, each considered a main clause, comprise a compound sentence. Main clauses can be joined to build a compound sentence by using a comma followed by a conjunction, such as or, and, or but. However, a conjunction is not necessary to form a compound sentence. A semicolon may be used to join two main clauses without a conjunction. A semicolon is also used before a conjunctive adverb, such as moreover.

Spring arrived late this year, but Mona's garden was as beautiful as ever.

Spring arrived late this year; Mona's garden was as beautiful as ever.

Spring arrived late this year; however, Mona's garden was as beautiful as ever.

Adjective Clauses

An adjective clause is a subordinate clause that modifies a noun or a pronoun. It usually follows the word it modifies.

I decided to keep for myself the present that I had bought for Ron's birthday. (modifies the noun present)

She visited Paris, where she had been born. (modifies the noun Paris)

An adjective clause usually begins with a relative pronoun, although it may also begin with when or where. Sometimes the introductory word is omitted altogether.

The writing group she started meets every Monday evening. (The relative pronoun that was omitted.)

RELATIVE PRONOUNS

that	whom	whomever
which	whose	what
who	whoever	whatever

► Exercise 1 Underline each adjective clause. Circle each relative pronoun that is given, and write in the blank those that have been omitted.

Unit 6: Verb Tenses, Voice, and Mood

Regular Verbs: Principal Parts

Verbs have four main parts—a base form, a present participle, a simple past, and a past participle. A regular verb forms its past and past participle by adding -ed or -d to the base form. A verb forms its present participle by adding -ing to the base form. Both the present and past participles require a helping verb.

Base Form:	The children ask for a snack.
Present Participle:	The children are asking for a snack.
Past:	The children asked for a snack.
Past Participle:	The children have asked for a snack.

► Exercise 1 Complete each sentence by writing the form of the verb indicated in parentheses.

We all live in the same neighborhood. (base form of live)

Lesson 37Tense of Verbs: Present, Past, and Future

The present tense expresses an action that is repeated, ongoing, or always true. It also expresses an action that is happening now. The present tense and the base form of a verb are the same, except for the third person singular (a singular noun or he, she, or it), which adds -s or -es. The verb be is an exception to this rule.

I march in the band at football games. (repeated action)

Stella needs some tape. (right now)

That store is on Main Street. (always true)

The past tense expresses an action that has already occurred. In regular verbs the past tense is formed by adding -ed to the base form. In irregular verbs the past tense takes a variety of forms. The verb be uses two past tense forms—was and were. The past tense is the same as the past.

Jerry looked at the geometry book. (regular)

Wanda crept through the dark hallway. (irregular)

The future tense expresses an action that will take place in the future. The future tense is formed by adding will or shall to the base form.

I will attend the game tomorrow afternoon.

► Exercise 1 Complete each sentence by writing the form of the verb indicated in parentheses.

Lesson 38

Perfect Tenses: Present, Past, and Future

The present perfect tense is used either to express an action that took place at some indefinite time in the past or to express an action that began in the past and continues in the present. The present perfect tense is formed with the past participle of the verb and the helping verb has or have. This tense often includes adverb phrases.

We have met our new neighbors.

The past perfect tense is used to show that one action in the past began and ended before another action in the past started. The past perfect tense is formed with the past participle of the verb and the helping verb had.

We had eaten the leftovers before Mom and Dad came home.

The future perfect tense is used to show that one action or condition in the future will begin and end before another event in the future starts. The future perfect tense is formed with the past participle of the verb and the helping verbs will have.

By tonight I will have practiced that piece several times.

19. The big silver blimp _____ over the football stadium. (future progressive of circle)
20. I _____ to the premiere when the tire started making a hissing sound.
(past perfect progressive of hurry)

The emphatic form adds emphasis to the verb. It uses a form of the verb do.

Present Emphatic We do believe the umpire made the wrong call.

Sam does listen to that music group.

Past Emphatic Well, they did ask us to the party after all.

► Exercise 2 Write in the blank the emphatic form of the verb in parentheses.

- She does like those colorful, noisy birds that she keeps. (like, present emphatic)

Lesson 41Verbs: Compatibility of Tenses

When two or more events take place at the same time in a sentence, the verb tenses must remain the same.

Incorrect: When April appeared in the doorway, she gives me a start.

This sentence is incorrect because while both events in the sentence took place in the past, the tense changes from past to present.

Correct: When April appeared in the doorway, she gave me a start.

Sometimes one event occurs before or after another event in a sentence. In these cases it is appropriate to shift tenses.

Incorrect: By the time Carlene arrived, Jason walked by.

This sentence is incorrect because the verbs are both past-tense forms and suggest that the two events took place at the same time.

Correct: By the time Carlene arrived, Jason had walked by.

Here the tense shifts from past (arrived) to past perfect (had walked) to show that Jason had walked by before Carlene arrived.

► Exercise 1 Write C in the blank before each sentence that contains compatible verb tenses.

- C Lenny loved baseball, so he decided to read about it.
- _____ 1. James loved college, but likes working, too.

Lesson 43Mood of Verbs

Verbs express one of three moods—the indicative mood, the imperative mood, or the subjunctive mood.

The indicative mood makes a statement or asks a question. This is the mood most often used.

Ron told Sarah the news.

The imperative mood expresses a command or makes a request.

Tell Sarah the news, Ron.

The subjunctive mood is used mainly in formal English. It is used to express a demand, a recommendation, a suggestion, or a statement of necessity.

Ace recommended that the minutes be accepted. (be instead of am, is, or are)

The subjunctive mood may also be used to state a condition or a wish that is contrary to fact.

If he were sure of his facts, he would sign the affidavit. (were instead of was) ► Exercise 1 Write ind. in the blank if the verb in italics is indicative, imp. if it is imperative, or subj. if it is subjunctive.

Unit 7: Subject-Verb Agreement

Lesson 44

Subject-Verb Agreement

A verb must agree with its subject in person and number. Most verbs change form to indicate agreement only in the present tense. For a third person singular subject an -s (or -es) is added to the base verb. The linking verb be changes form in both the present and the past tense. When be, have, and do are used as auxiliaries in verb phrases, their form changes to show agreement with third-person subjects.

SINGULAR

He paints.

She is happy.

She was joyful.

He has volunteered.

It does function.

PLURAL

They paint.

They are happy.

They were joyful.

They have volunteered.

They do function.

Lesson 49Agreement with Compound Subjects

A sentence with a compound subject (more than one subject) may require either a singular or a plural verb. If the compound is joined by and or both . . . and, the verb required is usually plural. However, some compound subjects have two parts that make up one unit. These take a singular verb.

Singular: Peanut butter and jelly is all my little brother will eat for lunch.

Plural: Grease and dirt cover everything in the small workshop.

The verb agrees with the subject that is closer in a compound subject joined by or, nor, either . . . or, or neither . . . nor.

Singular: Neither crumpets nor tea was served at the tea party.

Plural: Larry or the twins made that mess.

Any compound subject preceded by many a, every, or each takes a singular verb.

Many a chick and a gosling has been raised on this farm.

► Exercise 1 Underline the compound subject. Choose the verb in parentheses that agrees with the subject and write it in the blank.

Many a loudmouth and self-styled critic has voiced unwanted opinions.

Lesson 51

Indefinite Pronouns as Subjects

Many subjects are indefinite pronouns. A verb must agree with an indefinite pronoun used as a subject.

Singular: Everyone in the band knows that old melody.

Singular: Anybody realizes the truth in a case like this one.

Plural: Many recognize the usefulness of such a course of action.

Plural: Few admit such an embarrassing mistake.

Some pronouns can be either singular or plural, depending on the nouns to which they refer.

Singular: All of the cake tastes good, Michelle.

Plural: All of these cars are expensive.

Indefinite pronouns fall into three groups.

Always Singular:	each	everyone	nobody	anything either	everybody	nothing	someone neither	everything	anyone	somebody
	one	no one	anybody	something

Always Plural:	several	few	both	many
----------------	---------	-----	------	------

Singular or Plural:	some	all	most	none
---------------------	------	-----	------	------

► Exercise 1 Draw one line under the indefinite pronoun subject. Draw two lines under the correct form of the verb.

Lesson 52Agreement in Adjective Clauses

When the subject of an adjective clause is a relative pronoun, the verb in the clause must agree with the antecedent of the relative pronoun.

Patience is one of the requirements that make a good leader.

In the preceding example the antecedent of that is requirements, not one, because several requirements—not just patience—make a good leader. Since requirements is plural, that is considered to be plural, and the verb in the adjective clause, make, must also be plural.

Patience happens to be the only one of the leadership talents that is natural to me.

In this example the antecedent of that is one, not requirements, because the speaker has only one of the requirements of a good leader, patience. Since one is singular, the verb in the adjective clause, is, must be singular.

► Exercise 1 Draw one line under the antecedent of each relative pronoun. Draw two lines under the correct form of the verb.

Sally is the only one of our runners who (holds, hold) that distance record at our school.

- Brad appears to be the only one of the storytellers who (relates, relate) that particular tale.

Unit 8: Using Pronouns Correctly

Lesson 53

Case of Personal Pronouns

Personal pronouns are pronouns used to refer to persons or things. They have three cases, or forms, called nominative, objective, and possessive. Each case is determined by how the pronoun functions in a sentence—as a subject, a complement, or an object of a preposition.

CASE	SINGULAR	PLURAL	FUNCTION IN SENTENCE
Nominative	I, you, she, he, it	we, you, they	subject or predicate nominative
Objective	me, you, her, him, it	us, you, them	direct object, indirect object, or object of preposition
Possessive	my, mine, your, yours, her, hers, his, its	our, ours, your, yours, their, theirs	replacement for possessive noun(s)

For a subject or a compound subject, use a personal pronoun in the nominative case.

She and I competed for first prize.

For a personal pronoun in a compound object, use the objective case.

They awarded the band and him a music trophy.

Between you and her, I would pick you.

After a form of the linking verb be, use the nominative case of a personal pronoun.

The first one to call in the fire alarm was she.

The one who smelled smoke was he.

Do not use an apostrophe when spelling possessive pronouns.

Is this car theirs?

I thought it was yours.

The form it's is a contraction of it is. Do not confuse it's with the possessive pronoun its.

It's going to snow tonight; I can feel it.

Winter always saves its worst for late March.

Before a gerund (an -ing form used as a noun), use a possessive pronoun.

Your planning the party was a wonderful gift.

I hope you'll excuse my coming late.

► Exercise 1 Draw a line under the correct personal pronoun in parentheses.

Lesson 54Pronouns with and as Appositives; After Than and *As An appositive is a noun or pronoun that is placed next to another noun or pronoun in order to identify or give additional information about it.

Use the nominative case for a pronoun that is in apposition to a subject or a predicate nominative.

The team captains, Maria and I, will schedule practice. (Captains is the subject.)

The shortstops were two sisters, Cora and she. (Sisters is the predicate nominative.)

Use the objective case for a pronoun that is in apposition to a direct object, an indirect object, or an object of a preposition.

The judge sentenced the offenders, the thief and him. (Offenders is a direct object.)

We gave the cats, Rocky and her, some tidbits. (Cats is the indirect object.)

The senator spoke to both opponents, him and me. (Opponents is the object of the preposition to.)

When a pronoun is followed by an appositive, choose the case of the pronoun that would be correct if the appositive were omitted.

We climbers will beat you to the top of the mountain. (We is correct because we is the subject of the sentence.)

Don't be so arrogant to us hikers. (Us is correct because us is the object of the preposition to.)

In elliptical adverb clauses using than and as, choose the case of the pronoun that you would use if the missing words were fully expressed.

I am always awake earlier than she. (Read: I am always awake earlier than she is awake.)

Your words hurt her as much as me. (Read: Your words hurt her as much as they hurt me.)

► Exercise 1 Identify the case of the pronoun or pronouns in italics by writing nom. (nominative) or obj. (objective).

_____ obj. Tom told the boys, Mack and him, the bad news.

_____ 1. He, a world-traveled explorer, broke his leg in the airport.

_____ 2. I hoped to finish as soon as they, but I'm too slow.

Lesson 55Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

Observe the following rules when using reflexive and intensive pronouns: Use himself and themselves instead of the incorrect forms hissself and theirselves.

Julio fixed the VCR himself.

The dogs dug under the fence themselves.

When a personal pronoun refers to the subject of a sentence, always use a reflexive pronoun.

Incorrect: Marjorie treated her to an ice cream cone. (her refers to Marjorie)

Correct: Marjorie treated herself to an ice cream cone.

Incorrect: The baby saw him in the mirror. (him refers to the baby)

Correct: They baby saw himself in the mirror.

Avoid the unnecessary use of reflexive pronouns. A reflexive pronoun refers to the subject; it does not take the place of the subject.

Incorrect: Angie and myself are science lab partners.

Correct: Angie and I are science lab partners.

Incorrect: Mae and yourself will be team captains.

Correct: Mae and you will be team captains.

► Exercise 1 Underline the correct pronoun in parentheses. Assume that a third-person pronoun refers to a person, place, or thing already in the sentence.

Lesson 56Who and Whom in Questions and Subordinate Clauses

In questions, use who for subjects and whom for direct and indirect objects and objects of a preposition.

Who came late? (Who is the subject of the verb came.)

Whom did you drive to the party? (Whom is the direct object of the verb did drive.)

When a question includes an interrupting expression, such as did you say or do you think, leave out the expression and say the sentence to determine whether to use who or whom.

Who do you think took the jewels? (Say: Who took the jewels? to determine that who is the subject of the verb took.)

Use the nominative pronouns who and whoever for subjects and predicate nominatives in subordinate clauses.

The driver knows who hit him. (Who is the subject of the noun clause who hit him.)

The witnesses identified who the speeder was. (Who is the predicate nominative of the noun clause who the speeder was.)

The troopers will track whoever caused the crash. (Whoever is the subject of the noun clause whoever caused the crash.)

Use the objective pronouns whom and whomever for direct and indirect objects and objects of a preposition in subordinate clauses.

I asked whom she had chosen as lab partner. (Whom is the direct object of the verb had chosen.)

He is someone with whom I have nothing in common. (Whom is the object of the preposition with.)

I will work with whomever you send from the office. (Whomever is the direct object of the verb send.)

► Exercise 1 To complete each sentence, underline the correct pronoun from the pair in parentheses.

Lesson 57Agreement in Number and Gender and with Collective Nouns

An antecedent is the word or group of words to which a pronoun refers or replaces. All pronouns must agree with their antecedents.

A pronoun must agree with its antecedent in number (singular or plural) and gender (masculine, feminine, or neuter).

Consuela won her fifth spelling bee last week. (Her is a singular feminine pronoun that agrees with the antecedent Consuela.)

Jacob took his grandfather to the doctor. (His is a singular masculine pronoun that agrees with the antecedent Jacob.)

Carrie and Emilio studied for their science quiz together. (Their is a plural neuter pronoun that agrees with the compound subject Carrie and Emilio.)

The opossum, carrying its seven babies, scooted under the woodpile. (Its is a singular neuter pronoun that agrees with the antecedent opossum.)

Historically, the masculine pronoun has been used for all cases in which the gender of the antecedent is unknown.

Each student must take the test in his homeroom.

Today, there are several choices for avoiding the exclusive use of the masculine pronoun.

Each student must take the test in his or her homeroom.

Students must take the test in their homerooms.

Students must take the test in homeroom.

When the antecedent of a pronoun is a collective noun, the pronoun depends on whether the collective noun is meant to be singular or plural.

The team set in motion its last play of the game. (The collective noun team conveys the singular sense of one unit, requiring the use of the singular pronoun its.)

The team collected their uniforms and gear and headed for the bus. (The collective noun team conveys the plural sense of several persons performing separate acts, requiring the use of the plural pronoun their.)

► Exercise 1 Draw a line under each personal pronoun and draw a circle around its antecedent.

My parents have their original copy of Kidnapped.

1. Robert Louis Stevenson, the Scottish author, is best known for his adventure novels.
2. Stevenson always suffered from poor health; in spite of this, he lived a life notable for its adventure.

Lesson 59Agreement with Indefinite Pronoun Antecedents

Use a singular personal pronoun when the antecedent is a singular indefinite pronoun, and use a plural personal pronoun when the antecedent is a plural indefinite pronoun.

Each of the girls on the team has her own shin pads.

Both of the dogs lost their collars.

Note in the first sentence, with the prepositional phrase of the girls, that even though the object of the preposition of is plural, girls, you use the personal pronoun that agrees with the indefinite pronoun each.

Traditionally, the indefinite antecedent has taken a masculine pronoun. Today, you may use a variety of forms.

Each has his report.

Each has her report.

Each has his or her report.

All have their reports.

SINGULAR INDEFINITE PRONOUNS

anybody	anyone	anything	each	either	everybody everyone	everything	much	neither	nobody	no one nothing	one	other	somebody	someone	something

PLURAL INDEFINITE PRONOUNS

several	both	few	many
---------	------	-----	------

SINGULAR OR PLURAL INDEFINITE PRONOUNS

some	all	any	most	none
------	-----	-----	------	------

► Exercise 1 Underline the antecedent in each sentence. In the blank, write a personal pronoun that agrees with the antecedent. In some cases, you may write more than one pronoun.

Unit 9: Using Modifiers Correctly

Lesson 61

Modifiers: Three Degrees of Comparison

Most adjectives and adverbs have three degrees of comparison: the positive, the comparative, and the superlative.

The positive form of a modifier cannot be used to make a comparison. (This is the form that appears as the entry word in a dictionary.) The comparative form shows two things being compared. The superlative form shows three or more things being compared.

POSITIVE:	The chicken enchiladas are spicy . (adjective) Maple trees grow slowly . (adverb)
COMPARATIVE:	The chicken enchiladas are spicier than the cheese ones. (adjective) Maple trees grow more slowly than poplars. (adverb)
SUPERLATIVE:	The chicken enchiladas are the spiciest dish on the menu. (adjective) Of these three trees, the maple grows most slowly . (adverb)

Most one- and two-syllable modifiers add -er to form the comparative and -est to form the superlative. (The addition of -er or -est sometimes makes a spelling change necessary.)

The room is gloomier on overcast days. (The y in gloomy changes to an i.)

Use more and most (or less and least) to form the comparative and superlative forms if a modifier has three or more syllables, if an adverb ends in -ly, or if -er or -est sounds awkward.

Eric took the least difficult route down the mountain.

He steered more cautiously as the road grew steeper.

Irina was the most nervous of the three. (not nervousest)

► Exercise 1 Write in the blank the correct form of the modifier in parentheses.

► Writing Link Write three sentences using a variety of double negative sentences. Then rewrite the sentences with correct, but equally expressive, usage.

Lesson 66Misplaced and Dangling Modifiers

Place modifiers as close as possible to the words they modify in order to make the meaning of the sentence clear.

A misplaced modifier modifies the wrong word or seems to modify more than one word in a sentence. To correct a misplaced modifier, move the modifier as close as possible to the word that it modifies.

MISPLACED: I want to buy a computer for my mother with a modem.

CLEAR: I want to buy a computer with a modem for my mother.

MISPLACED: At the picnic we served strawberry mousse to everyone in paper cups.

CLEAR: At the picnic we served strawberry mousse in paper cups to everyone.

A dangling modifier does not logically modify any word in the sentence. To correct a dangling modifier, supply a word that the dangling modifier can logically modify.

DANGLING: Waiting for a ride home, rain started to fall. (Was the rain waiting for a ride home?)

CLEAR: While I was waiting for a ride home, rain started to fall.

DANGLING: Having found the missing boy, the search was called off. (Who found the boy?)

CLEAR: Having found the missing boy, Officer Hadley called off the search.

The word only should immediately precede the word or group of words it modifies. If only is placed elsewhere, the sentence's meaning may be unclear.

UNCLEAR: Maria only has her German class on Friday. (Does she have her class on any other days?)

CLEAR: Maria has her German class only on Friday.

UNCLEAR: They only went to the movies on weekends. (Did they do anything else?)

CLEAR: They went to the movies only on weekends.

► Exercise 1 Circle each misplaced modifier and draw an arrow to the word it should modify. Write C in the blank if the sentence is correct.

Unit 12: Punctuation, Abbreviations, and Numbers

Lesson 75

End Punctuation: Period, Exclamation Point, and Question Mark

Use a period at the end of a declarative sentence and at the end of a polite command.

Nadine Gordimer won the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1991.
Think of another author from Africa who won the Nobel Prize.

Use an exclamation point to show strong feeling and indicate a forceful command.

What a fabulous book! Read it!

Use a question mark to indicate a direct question.

Did Wole Soyinka of Nigeria win the Nobel Prize in Literature?

A declarative sentence containing an indirect question does not take a question mark.

Juanita asked if Naguib Mahfouz from Egypt had also won the prize.

► Exercise 1 Add end punctuation as needed.

Sarah asked if she could come with us to the dance recital

Lesson 76

Colons

Use a colon to introduce a list, especially after a statement that uses such words as these, the following, or as follows.

To bake the cookies you will need these ingredients: flour, sugar, butter, chocolate chips, baking powder, eggs, vanilla, and pecans.

Do not use a colon if a list immediately follows a verb or a preposition.

Elvis Presley's hit singles include "Heartbreak Hotel," "Hound Dog," and "Love Me Tender."

Use a colon to introduce material that illustrates, restates, or explains the preceding material. A complete sentence following a colon is usually not capitalized.

The Cleveland Browns, Phoenix Cardinals, and Seattle Seahawks have one thing in common: they have never played in the Super Bowl.

Use colons to introduce a long or formal quotation.

Eudora Welty's famous short story "Why I Live at the P.O." begins with the following words: "I was getting along fine with Mama, Papa-Daddy, and Uncle Rondo until my sister Stella-Rondo just separated from her husband and came back home again."

Quotations of poetry that are longer than one line and quotations of prose that are longer than five lines are generally written below the introductory statement and indented on the page.

William Wordsworth's poem "Tintern Abbey" contains these prayer-like words:

While with an eye made quiet by the power of harmony, and the deep power of joy,
We see into the life of things.

Use a colon between the hour and minute of the precise time, between the chapter and verse in biblical references, and the salutation of a business letter.

4:12 A.M.

9:03 P.M.

Lesson 77

Semicolons

Use a semicolon to separate main clauses that are not joined by a coordinating conjunction (and, but, or, nor, yet and for).

The English word salary has an interesting history; based on the Latin word for “salt,” it comes from the fact that Roman soldiers were paid money to buy salt.

Use a semicolon to separate main clauses joined by a conjunctive adverb (such as however, therefore, nevertheless, moreover, furthermore, and consequently) or by an expression such as for example or that is. In general a conjunctive adverb or expression such as in fact, for example, or that is is followed by a comma.

Which state has the most interesting and unusual place names would be a lively debate; however, Maine, with names such as Passamaquoddy, would certainly be in the running.

Use a semicolon to separate the items in a series when these items contain commas.

Interestingly, three important twentieth-century American poets who held jobs outside of literature are William Carlos Williams, a doctor; Wallace Stevens, an insurance company executive; and T. S. Eliot, a banker.

Use a semicolon to separate two main clauses joined by a coordinating conjunction when such clauses already contain several commas.

India is perhaps best known for its masses of poor people living on the edge of disaster, one meal away from starvation; but it must also be remembered as the world’s largest, liveliest democracy, where, in spite of its immense difficulties, it manages to maintain electoral freedom for the most people of any country on Earth.

► Exercise 1 Add semicolons as needed. Cross out semicolons used incorrectly, using the delete (✂) symbol. If the sentence is correct as written, write C in the blank.

Lesson 78Commas and Compound Sentences

Use commas between the main clauses in a compound sentence. Place a comma before a coordinating conjunction (and, but, or, nor, yet, or for) that joins two main clauses.

Irish playwright John Millington Synge is known for his dramas about rural Irish life, and his play The Playboy of the Western World has become a classic.

You may omit the comma between very short main clauses that are connected by a coordinating conjunction, unless the comma is needed to avoid confusion.

Jose opened the refrigerator and he took out the peanut butter. (clear)

Jose opened the refrigerator and the peanut butter fell on the floor. (confusing)

Jose opened the refrigerator, and the peanut butter fell on the floor. (clear)

► Exercise 1 Add commas as needed. Cross out commas used incorrectly, using the delete (X) symbol. If the sentence is correct as written, write C in the blank.

- _____ 21. When he had completed all twelve labors, Heracles was more famous and admired than ever, and the jealous King Eurystheus was forced to leave the hero alone.

Lesson 79Commas in a Series and Between Coordinate Adjectives

Use commas to separate three or more words, phrases, or clauses in a series when they are not connected by conjunctions.

The lights blinked, flickered, and went out.

Shelley bought soft drinks, potato chips, and gingersnaps for the party.

I checked the windows, Denise pulled the curtains, and Dad turned out the lights.

Do not use commas to separate nouns used in pairs (thunder and lightning, salt and pepper, bread and butter) that are considered single units. The paired nouns are set off from other nouns or groups of nouns in a series, however.

The weather forecast called for cooler temperatures, thunder and lightning, and showers starting tonight.

Place a comma between coordinate adjectives that precede a noun. Coordinate adjectives modify a noun equally. To discover whether adjectives are coordinate, reverse their order or put the word and between them. If the sentence still sounds natural, the adjectives are coordinate.

The tall, thin, red-haired player on the other team was really good.

If adjectives preceding a noun sound unnatural with their order reversed or with and between them, do not use commas. Generally, adjectives that describe size, shape, age, and material do not need to be separated by commas.

Mindy painted a big round face on the mural.

Lesson 80Commas with Nonessential Elements, Interjections, Parenthetical Expressions, and Conjunctive Adverbs

Use commas to set off participles, infinitives, appositives, and their phrases if they are not essential to the meaning of the sentence. If they are essential to the meaning, do not set them off with commas.

He smiled broadly, waiting for teammates to congratulate him. (nonessential participial phrase)

To go on every one of the club's hikes is my goal. (As the subject of the sentence, the infinitive phrase is essential to the meaning of the sentence.)

Twain's novel The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn also takes place on and along the Mississippi River. (If commas were used to set off the essential appositive, The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, the implication would be that this was Twain's only novel, which is not the case.)

Use commas to set off a nonessential adjective clause, but do not use commas to set off an adjective clause that is essential.

Madison, which is in the south-central part of the state, is the capital of Wisconsin. (Which is in the south-central part of the state is extra information.)

Tourists who are not fond of cold weather should think twice about vacationing in Alaska. (Who are not fond of cold weather is essential to the meaning.)

Lesson 89Quotation Marks for Direct Quotations

Use quotation marks to enclose a direct quotation. In general, separate introductory or explanatory remarks from the quotation with a comma.

“Once you’ve seen Niagara Falls, you’ll never forget its awesome power,” my grandfather said solemnly.

Grandmother added with a laugh, “I agree with you, dear, but when we were there, you complained the whole time about the roar!”

When a quotation is interrupted by explanatory words such as he said or she wrote, use two sets of quotation marks. Begin the second part of the quotation with a capital letter if it is a complete sentence.

“Notre Dame, Michigan, and Alabama are the teams,” said the coach, “with the best records in college football.”

“Alabama coach Bear Bryant has won the most games,” she continued. “He won 323 games in his career.”

Never use quotation marks in an indirect quotation (a quotation that does not repeat a person’s exact words).

Original quotation: “I don’t care about your horrid little frog,” Valerie screeched.

Indirect quotation: Valerie screeched that she didn’t care about the horrid little frog.

Use single quotation marks around a quotation within a quotation.

During the discussion, he said, “Remember that she ends the novel by stating, ‘The land went slowly back to pasture and then to forest. In a hundred years, no one knew it had ever existed.’”

In writing dialogue, begin a new paragraph and use a new set of quotation marks every time the speaker changes.

“What do you feel like doing?” Mark asked when we had all gathered at the corner.

“How about we go shoot some hoops at the playground,” suggested Khalid.

“We could do that—if we had a basketball,” answered Mark.

► Exercise 1 Add quotation marks where necessary. If the sentence is correct as written, write C in the blank.

_____ “No man ever became extremely wicked all at once,” wrote the Roman dramatist Juvenal.

_____ 1. While it is not surprising that Texas has the most farms of any state, the state in second place may surprise you, the speaker said. It’s Missouri.

Lesson 90Quotation Marks: Other Uses

Use quotation marks to enclose the titles of short works, such as short stories, short poems, essays, newspaper and magazine articles, book chapters, songs, and single episodes of a television series.

“Peasants” (short story)

“The Green Jaguar” (chapter)

“Tintern Abbey” (poem)

“Poor Wandering One” (song title)

“Stay Fit with Exercise” (article)

“Fall Into Life” (essay)

“A Holiday Celebration” (episode of a television series)

Use quotation marks to enclose unfamiliar slang and other unusual or original expressions.

When she was little, my sister wouldn’t go anywhere without her “bunkie,” a dreadfully ratty old blanket that she loved dearly.

Use quotation marks to enclose a definition that is stated directly.

Smorgasbord is the Swedish word meaning “sandwich table.”

Always place a comma or a period inside closing quotation marks.

“Can’t Explain,” “I Can See for Miles,” and “Happy Jack” were three of the Who’s early hit songs.

Always place a colon or a semicolon outside closing quotation marks.

Mom pointed out why I should read the article “Organizing Your Life”: my room is a total mess.

Place the question mark or exclamation point inside the closing quotation marks when it is part of the quotation.

My favorite song from the musical Oliver is “Where Is Love?”

Place the question mark or exclamation point outside the closing quotation marks when it is part of the entire sentence.

Have you ever read the short story “To Build a Fire”?

If both the sentence and the quotation at the end of the sentence need a question mark (or an exclamation point), use only one punctuation mark and place it inside the closing quotation marks.

Who called and asked “Would you like to go to the soccer game?”

► Exercise 1 Add quotation marks and other punctuation as needed.

“What puzzles me is how he got out of the locked room.”

Lesson 93

The Hyphen

Ordinarily a hyphen is not used to join a prefix to a word. Exceptions are as follows:

Use a hyphen after any prefix joined to a proper noun or a proper adjective. Also use a hyphen after the prefixes all-, ex- (meaning “former”), and self- joined to any noun or adjective.

pro-Canadian ex-governor all-knowing self-awareness

Generally, hyphens are used to avoid confusion, such as between words beginning with re- that could be mistaken for another word different in meaning and pronunciation. Also use a hyphen to separate the prefix anti- when it joins a word beginning with i-. Always hyphenate the prefix vice- and any succeeding word, except in vice president.

re-creation of a historical scene outdoor recreation anti-industrialism vice-mayor

Use a hyphen in a compound adjective that precedes a noun. When compound adjectives beginning with well, ill, or little are modified by an adverb, they are usually not hyphenated. An expression made up of an adverb ending in -ly and an adjective is not hyphenated.

a dark-colored hat The hat was dark colored.

Vocabulary and Spelling

Unit 13: Vocabulary and Spelling

Lesson 96

Building Vocabulary: Learning Words from Context

Clues to the meaning of an unfamiliar word may be found in its context, or the words and sentences surrounding it. These clues may be in the form of specific clues or general context.

INTERPRETING CLUE WORDS

Definition—The unfamiliar word is actually defined after a clue word. Clue words include which is, which means, and that is.

Ms. Meyers was ambiguous in her instructions, which means that her directions were not clear.

Example—The unfamiliar word is illustrated by an example or an analogy. Clue words include like, for example, for instance, these, including, and especially.

Remnants of ancient cultures, like mounds, tell us much of their way of life.

Comparison—The unfamiliar word is likened to a familiar one. Clue words include like, also, likewise, similarly, in the same way, similar to, resembling, and as.

Jason gorged on snacks; similarly, Yoshika overate until she felt uncomfortable.

Contrast—The unfamiliar word is shown as the opposite of a familiar word. Clue words include whereas, but, although, on the contrary, however, on the other hand, and in contrast to.

Although her husband was careless with his checkbook, Mrs. Nguyen assiduously recorded every transaction in hers.

Cause and effect—An unfamiliar cause is explained by a familiar effect. Clue words include because, as a result, therefore, when, and consequently.

The man was indigent and therefore could not afford even necessities.

Restatement—An unfamiliar word is explained by a more familiar expression. Clue words include or, in other words, also known as, and also called.

The alarm system was very sophisticated; in other words, it was complicated.

► Exercise 1 Draw a line under specific clue words. From the context, write a definition for the italicized word.

Lesson 97

Building Vocabulary: Word Roots

The main part of a word is called its root. When the root is a complete word, it is called a base word. The root can suggest the basic meaning of a word. Roots are often combined with a prefix (a part preceding the root), a suffix (a part following the root), or another root. These parts can change the direction of a word's meaning. Here is a list of some common roots.

ROOTS	MEANINGS	ROOTS	MEANINGS
aqua, aqu	water	unct	join
astr, astro	star	jur, jus	law
biblio	book	logy, log	word, thought, speech
bio	life	metr	meter, measure

Lesson 98

Building Vocabulary: Prefixes and Suffixes

Prefixes are attached to the beginnings of roots or words to change their meaning. They may show quantity, size, negation, time, direction, or position.

PREFIX	MEANING	PREFIX	MEANING
post-	after	pre-, pro-	before
re-	again	syn-	together
a-, an-	not, without	ant-, anti-	against
de-, dis-	do the opposite	non-, un-	not
semi-, hemi-	half	bi-, di-	two
uni-, mono-	one	cent-	hundred
circum-	around	in-, im-	into or not
sub-	below, outside of	trans-	across, over

Suffixes are added to the end of a root or a word to make a new word with a new meaning. A suffix may change the part of speech of a word.

SUFFIX	MEANING	SUFFIX	MEANING
-ee	receiver of action	-ance, -ence	state, quality	} noun-forming
-ant, -eer	agent, doer	-ist	one who

Lesson 99Basic Spelling Rules: I*PREFIXES

Adding a prefix does not change the spelling of the original word. Use a hyphen when the original word is capitalized or with the prefixes ex- (meaning previous or former), self-, and all-.

anti- + social = antisocial un- + stable = unstable self- + serve = self-serve non- + British = non-British ex- + director = ex-director all- + around = all-around

SUFFIXES

Most words do not change spelling when a suffix is added. When adding -ly to a word that ends in a single l, keep the l. If the word ends in a double l, drop one l. If the word ends in a consonant + le, drop the le.

partial + -ly = partially dull + -ly = dully dangle + -ly = dangly

Drop a final silent e before a suffix that begins with a vowel. Keep the silent e before adding a suffix beginning with a consonant.

line + -er = liner value + -able = valuable infinite + -ly = infinitely

Exceptions: judge + -ment = judgment argue + -ment = argument due + -ly = duly

Keep the final e when the word ends in -ee or -oe, before the suffix -ing, and with words ending in -ce or -ge that have suffixes beginning with a or o.

see + -ing = seeing woe + -ful = woeful trace + -able = traceable

Double the final consonant if the original word is a one-syllable word, if the accent remains on the last syllable of the original word after the suffix is added, or if the original word is a prefixed one-syllable word.

stop, stopped regret, regretting reset, resetting

Do not double the final consonant if the accent is not on the last syllable, if the accent shifts when the suffix is added, if the final consonant is x or w, or when the original word ends in a consonant and the suffix begins with a consonant.

confer, conference row, rowing ship, shipment

► Exercise 1 Write the word that results when the given prefix or suffix is added to the supplied word. Check your dictionary for variations in spelling.

sight + -ing sighting

1. dis- + like _____ 3. ex- + wife _____

2. counter- + productive _____ 4. un- + American _____ ▶ Writing Link Choose ten verbs not found in this exercise, make them into nouns, and use them to write a coherent paragraph.

Lesson 100Basic Spelling Rules: II*PLURALS

Add -s to most nouns (including proper nouns) to form the plural. Add -es to nouns ending in -ch, -s, -sh, -x, or -z. When a noun ends in a consonant + y, change the y to i and add -es. Some nouns ending in -f (especially -lf) become plural by changing the f to v and adding -es.

girl + -s = girls fox + -es = foxes bush + -es = bushes country + -es = countries wharf + -es = wharves puff + -s = puffs thief + -es = thieves calf + -es = calves

Some nouns have irregular formations for the plural, and some are the same for both singular and plural.

ox + -en = oxen goose, geese moose, moose deer, deer

WORDS WITH IE AND EI

The i comes before the e except when both follow a c or when they are sounded together as an ā sound, as in weigh. However, there are many exceptions.

shriek (i before e) receive (e before i) deign (ā sound) leisure (exception)

WORDS WITH -CEDE AND -CEED

Three words end with -ceed: exceed, proceed, and succeed. Most words that end with a sed sound use the root -cede. Supersede is the exception.

secede accede concede

UNSTRESSED VOWELS

An unstressed vowel is a vowel that is not emphasized in pronunciation. To determine correct spelling, think of a related word where the vowel or syllable is stressed.

lamentation, lament desperate, desperation

COMPOUND WORDS

Compound words usually do not change spelling when formed. Some compound words form one word, however, some use a hyphen, and some remain two words. The dictionary is a great help with these.

fast + ball = fastball strong + arm = strong-arm chain + mail = chain mail

CHALLENGING WORDS

Many spelling challenges exist with words that are homonyms or near homonyms. Other words contain unusual combinations of letters. When in doubt, use a dictionary. Be aware that computer spell-checkers do not find wrong word choices or errors that result in a correct word that is wrong for the context. Proofreading is still necessary.

► Exercise 1 Write the new word in the blank. Use a dictionary to check your answers.

Composition

Unit 14: Composition

Lesson 101

The Writing Process: Prewriting

Before you can begin to write, you need to arm yourself with information and ideas. This stage of writing is called prewriting. In the prewriting stage you decide what you want to say (topic), why you want to say it (purpose), and to whom you want to say it (audience).

First, decide on your topic or subject by using the following methods:

Freewrite: Write down anything that comes into your mind. Write in a random fashion letting your ideas flow freely. This method is like thinking on paper.

Collect Information: Gather information from several different sources about topics that interest you. A newspaper headline, magazine article, or a photograph in a book can give you interesting ideas for topics.

Make Lists: Make lists of events, experiences, people, ideas, or even words that interest you. Use these lists to generate ideas for topics.

Ask Questions: Write down questions that you would like to find the answers to. Answers to questions such as What if...? How...? or Who...? might provide an interesting topic for your writing.

After choosing your topic, it is time to determine your purpose, or reason for writing. Your purpose might be to inform, to persuade, to entertain, to describe, or to analyze. Deciding on a purpose can help you narrow your topic.

Finally, determine what audience you are trying to reach with your writing. Knowing your audience will help you to decide on what writing style and what level of vocabulary to use. For example, writing a lab report for a group of environmental scientists would be very different from writing a report on pollution to present to a group of second-graders.

► Exercise 1 Spend 10 minutes prewriting, using any of the methods described above.

► Exercise 2 Select five possible writing topics from your prewriting in Exercise 1. Write the topic, a possible purpose, and a possible audience for each topic.

► Exercise 3 Determine a purpose and an audience for each topic listed below.

1. instructions on how to change an oil filter on an American car _____

2. a humorous poem describing children _____

3. tips on Japanese business etiquette _____

4. how to determine the volume of a cylinder _____

5. recipes for making quick and easy meals _____

6. criticism of a new law _____

7. warning that a lake is polluted _____

8. announcement of a seminar on raising dairy cattle _____

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

9. opinion of a new movie _____

10. forecast of what fashion will be like in twenty years _____

► Exercise 4 Find five different photographs or illustrations that interest you. Briefly describe each photo or illustration, then write a list of four questions that you have about each. Use these questions to come up with a possible writing topic.

1. Description: _____

Questions: _____

Possible topic: _____

2. Description: _____

Questions: _____

Possible topic: _____

3. Description: _____

Questions: _____

Possible topic: _____

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

4. Description: _____

Questions: _____

Possible topic: _____

5. Description: _____

Questions: _____

Possible topic: _____

► Exercise 5 Tell what style and vocabulary is appropriate for each audience. Then choose one audience, and write a short paragraph about your immediate plans after graduation.

1. Audience: you—in your personal journal _____

2. Audience: a specific family member _____

3. Audience: a future employer _____

4. Audience: a college admissions office _____

5. Audience: a friend in another city _____

Lesson 102The Writing Process: Drafting

Once you've gathered ideas and information in the prewriting stage, it's time to start putting them on paper. This stage of the writing process is called drafting, and it will be the first time that you write your ideas in paragraph form. The first paragraph of your draft should state the theme or the main point of your writing. This is called a thesis statement. Often your purpose and audience can help you formulate your thesis statement. Paragraphs that follow your first paragraph should have a topic sentence that supports the thesis statement and details to support the topic sentence. The theme, audience, and purpose of your writing will also help you to determine the way, or style, in which you write. The writing style that you adopt will give the piece its tone or "feel."

► Exercise 1 Use each theme to write a complete thesis statement.

1. Theme: 17-year-olds should be allowed to vote _____

2. Theme: exposure to paint containing lead is harmful _____

3. Theme: music today is better than it used to be _____

4. Theme: the role of robots in the future _____

5. Theme: earning money for college _____

6. Theme: the most difficult stage of growing up _____

7. Theme: playing only to win _____

8. Theme: significance of the destruction of rain forests _____

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

9. Theme: my favorite painting _____

10 Theme: reasons for the Persian Gulf War _____

► Exercise 2 Write an appropriate topic sentence for each of the following paragraphs.

Only about 20 percent of the people in China live in cities. However, the cities are growing rapidly as people from rural areas move to the cities in search of jobs. In some areas there is a lack of housing and people must live in crowded apartments or homes with relatives until they can find a place of their own.

As soon as you hear the warning, turn on the television or radio to get more information. If a tornado has been sighted nearby, go to a basement. If you do not have a basement, take cover under a heavy piece of furniture away from windows.

Today, movies are produced all over the country. Many southern states, such as North Carolina and Florida, have large movie studios. Because labor is often cheaper in these states, movies can be produced for less money than in Hollywood.

First and foremost make sure you get to your job on time. Cooperate with your coworkers, follow the company's policies, and carry out your manager's instructions carefully when performing your duties. Try to learn more about the company you are working for and, if you think you can handle it, ask to be given more responsibility.

► Exercise 3 Write a brief paragraph on each theme. Use a style that is appropriate for the given audience. Each paragraph should contain a topic sentence and details to support it.

1. Theme: complaint that compact discs are overpackaged and produce too much waste;

Audience: compact disc manufacturers _____

2. Theme: a set of instructions for a young person who has to stay home alone for a few hours after school; Audience: a thirteen-year-old relative or neighbor _____

3. Theme: reasons why your city or area should be the next site of the summer or winter Olympics;

Audience: Olympic officials _____

4. Theme: tried and true methods for asking someone out on a date; Audience: friend

5. Theme: invitation to speak at your graduation ceremony; Audience: mayor or city council member _____

6. Theme: a request for information on how to apply for a college scholarship; Audience: college admissions office _____

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

7. Theme: an apology for not following through on a promise; Audience: friend or relative

8. Theme: a description of your favorite song or type of music; Audience: someone who has never heard this song or type of music _____

► Exercise 4 Write two questions that you would need to answer in order to create a good paragraph from each topic sentence below.

1. Most of the world's civilizations began near a source of water. _____

2. If you can swim, hold your breath for a full minute, and lift at least sixty pounds then you may be the person for this job. _____

3. The Sherpas' knowledge of the Himalayas make them valuable guides for mountain climbers.

4. When you go white-water rafting you may leave with a boatload of strangers, but you return with a boatload of friends. _____

5. This artist uses willow branches to craft her delicate furniture. _____

6. Many immigrants from southwestern Asia travel to Europe in search of jobs.

7. The value of ivory is destroying Africa's elephant population. _____

8. Broccoli provides the body with many health benefits and can even help to prevent some diseases. _____

Lesson 103The Writing Process: Revising

After you have completed your draft, the next step is to revise, or improve, your writing. First, reread your draft carefully. Have you stated your purpose clearly in your thesis statement? Have you included all the details necessary to support your thesis? Next, check for unity. Is the organization logical? Are the details presented in a way that the reader will understand how they relate to your thesis statement? Finally, check for coherence. Is each sentence clear? Does the writing flow smoothly from sentence to sentence and paragraph to paragraph? Have you provided clear transitions from one idea to the next? Rework your writing to make it clear. Add or replace words to convey meaning as precisely as possible. While putting your ideas on paper, you may have left out adjectives or adverbs that can make your writing more interesting. Now is the time to add color and action to your writing by adding more descriptive words.

▶ Exercise 1 Revise and rewrite the paragraphs below for clarity, unity, and coherence.

1. Sitting in his small office in Southsea, England, in the 1880s, Dr. Arthur Conan Doyle passed the time by writing stories. The author introduced his new detective in a story called “A Study in Scarlet.” In 1886, However, Conan Doyle had the idea of basing a character on a clever and observant teacher at his Edinburgh medical school, Joseph Bell. He tried his hand at adventure yarns, science fiction, and history, but enjoyed only a moderate success. The character’s name, which was soon to become known throughout the world, was Sherlock Holmes. The most famous of all literary detectives sprang from the mind of a bored and relatively unsuccessful doctor.

2. Natural rubber has been replaced by many new synthetic materials. Natural rubber, though, is still used in tires, electrical insulation, and for waterproofing. Natural rubber is made from latex, which comes from rubber trees. Latex is a milky liquid. To gather latex, workers must be hired and then they make shallow cuts in the trunks of rubber trees to gather the latex. They attach a spout to the tree and a small cup. The cup is used to collect the latex. Removing the latex does not hurt the tree. Latex is not the sap of the tree. One worker can tap as many as 350 trees each day.

► Exercise 2 The sentences in each paragraph below are not organized in a logical order. Number the sentences in the order they should appear. Delete sentences that do not support the main idea.

1. _____ As perfume use became more popular, the custom spread to Europe. _____ The use of perfumes can be traced back to ancient Egypt. _____ Some people are allergic to perfumes. _____ Remains of vials containing perfumed oils and ointments have been discovered in early Egyptian tombs. _____ Farms in southern France grow fragrant flowers and plants for use in the profitable perfume industry. _____ Today, France manufactures much of the world's perfumes.
2. _____ If you want to get a job at a hospital, previous experience as a hospital volunteer will give you an edge over other applicants. _____ If you like working with young children, spending time at a daycare facility will give you valuable job experience. _____ When you start looking for your first job you will likely run into a problem that every first time job hunter faces—a lack of experience. _____ Recreation centers, childcare facilities, homeless shelters, hospitals, and fund-raising organizations are always in need of dedicated people to help them a few hours a week. _____ My brother is a volunteer at a local nursing home. _____ One way to get some on-the-job experience before you start looking for a job is to do volunteer work in your community. _____ Finally, when you volunteer, you'll not only be learning skills but providing a valuable service to your community.

► Exercise 3 Rewrite each sentence adding details to make it more interesting and descriptive.

1. After the tornado, only two buildings were left standing.

2. Whenever we eat at our favorite restaurant, we order our favorite food.

3. My cousin Germaine lives in the house on the corner.

4. A hero is someone whom you respect.

5. Visiting the beach was the best part of my vacation.

6. He was lost in the forest for three days before they found him.

7. Chris decided to wear red to the game.

9. There were ten people and only one car.

10. I was confused when all the reporters began asking me questions about what had happened.

11. It bothers me when people are impolite.

12. We walked through the woods after it snowed.

13. I've seen my favorite movie at least eight times.

14. My car was making a funny sound, so I took it in for repairs.

15. My best friend is different from everyone else.

16. I filled out an application, but I'm not sure if I'll get the job.

17. By the time I'm twenty-one, I hope to have reached my goals.

18. I was quite embarrassed when I realized I was the only person in costume.

Lesson 104The Writing Process: Editing

After you have revised your work, the next step is to edit what you have written. As you edit, look for correct word usage, subject-verb agreement, correct verb tenses, clear pronoun references, run-on sentences, and sentence fragments. When editing, cross out words and write new words in margins and spaces between the lines. Next, proofread your writing to correct spelling, punctuation, and capitalization errors. Use the following proofreading marks:

18. The tropic of cancer is located just a few miles southern of the Florida keys.

► Exercise 2 Proofread the paragraph to correct spelling, punctuation, and capitalization.

Have you ever wondred how the speed of an airborne baseball is measured? Its done the same way that the highway patrol measures the sped of a auto mobile—with a radra gun. A person holding a radar gun stands behind home plate. The radar gun emits a microwave beams. When the basebeall moves into this beam, it reflects the beam backto the gun. When the diference inthe reflected bean and the orignial beam is measured, the miles per hour can be calculateed. Some of baseballs best pitchers can fire a fast ball across the plate at speeds close to one hundred miles an per hour.

Lesson 105

The Writing Process: Presenting

After completing a piece of writing, you may want to share your work with others. You can begin thinking about your presentation as early as the prewriting stage when you define your audience. The nature of your writing will affect how and where you might present your writing.

An outlet for presenting your writing to a specific audience is called a market. As a twelfth-grade student several markets are available to you. Some of these markets may be related to school, such as school newspapers and classroom presentations. Others might be in your community, such as local organizations and community newspapers. Other markets include contests sponsored by magazines or special-interest publications and newsletters. The Market Guide for Young Writers, available in many libraries, will provide many ideas for marketing your work.

To decide how to present your writing, first analyze the piece and pinpoint the audience. Then search for an outlet that serves that audience. Some outlets, such as classroom presentations, radio programs, community productions, or speech contests offer a chance to give oral presentations. In these cases, visual aids may enhance your presentation.

► Exercise 1 Suggest an outlet or market for each piece of writing described below.

a story for children about endangered animals a children's magazine or a community environmental fair

1. an essay discussing violence on television _____

2. lyrics for a song about surfing _____

 10. a science class report on how heredity determines what traits are passed from one family member to another _____

Lesson 106

Outlining

Outlining is a way to organize your information before you begin writing. In the prewriting stage you gather information and generate ideas. Outlining gives you a way to structure those ideas. One way to make an outline is to transfer information from your prewriting material to index cards. You can then arrange the cards by main topic and supporting details. In an outline, use roman numerals to indicate main topics and use capital letters for subtopics. Under each subtopic, list details using regular numbers and lowercase letters. If you divide a topic into subtopics, always use at least two subtopics. Part of an outline for a report on Renaissance figures might look like this:

- I. Renaissance artists
 - A. Leonardo da Vinci
 - 1. Born 1452 in Vinci, Italy
 - 2. Artist, scientist, and inventor
 - 3. Major artistic achievements
 - a. Mona Lisa
 - b. Last Supper
 - c. Adoration of the Magi
 - B. Michelangelo
 - 1. Born 1475 in Arezzo, Italy
 - 2. Painter, sculptor, and architect
 - 3. Major artistic achievements
 - a. Sistine Chapel
 - b. The Pietà
- II. Renaissance philosophers

► Exercise 1 Use the information presented in the following outline to write a one- or two-paragraph report about vitamins.

- I. Water-soluble vitamins
 - A. Characteristics
 - 1. Dissolve in water so they pass easily into the bloodstream
 - 2. Not stored in body tissue, but excreted in urine
 - 3. Must be replenished every day
 - B. Examples
 - 1. B-complex vitamins
 - 2. Vitamin C
- II. Fat-soluble vitamins
 - A. Characteristics
 - 1. Absorbed and transported by fat cells
 - 2. Stored in body's fatty tissue
 - 3. Excess build-up can have a toxic effect
 - B. Examples
 - 1. Vitamin A
 - 2. Vitamin D
 - 3. Vitamin E

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

► Exercise 2 Organize the following topics and details into an outline for a report on air pollution. Create three main topics in your outline.

- Photochemical smog
- Eyes water and sting
- Acid rain
- Industry
- Major causes of air pollution
- Effects of air pollution on our health
- Sulfurous smog
- Exhaust from vehicles
- Heart and brain receive less oxygen
- Types of air pollution
- Trash burning
- Smog
- Irritates nose, throat, and lungs

Lesson 107

Writing Effective Sentences

Effective sentences are one of the most powerful tools a writer has. You can alter the tone and style of your writing simply by changing the patterns of your sentences. Consider these strategies when writing sentences. Vary the length of your sentences. Don't use all long sentences or all short sentences. Also vary the structure of your sentences.

Following a rigid sentence pattern can become repetitive and boring. In some cases, parallelism (the deliberate repetition of certain words, phrases, or sentence structures) can be used to achieve a desired effect. Another strategy is to use interruption for emphasis. A sudden break in thought calls attention to itself. Use this device to emphasize an important point or detail. Another way to add emphasis is to use an unusual sentence pattern that stands out from the rest.

Pay special attention to topic sentences. When writing a topic sentence for a paragraph make it specific enough to arouse or "hook" your readers so that they will want to read on.

Use the active voice as often as possible in your sentences. In a sentence in the active voice, the subject performs the action. (He grabbed the last sandwich.) In a passive-voice sentence, the subject is acted upon. (The last sandwich was grabbed by him.) Active-voice sentences are stronger than passive-voice sentences. As a general rule, use passive voice only when the subject performing the action is not known, when the subject is unimportant, or when you want to emphasize something other than the subject.

► Exercise 1 Rewrite each sentence below to create one or two sentences that are more interesting and effective.

We smelled smoke as we entered the house. We saw flames climbing up the kitchen curtains.

1. A space station has more room than a spaceship. Skylab was a space station built by the United States. It had separate living quarters, separate work areas, and separate exercise areas.
- _____
- _____

2. My diploma was given to me at graduation. The principal congratulated me and shook my hand.
- _____
- _____

3. In Bangkok, Thailand, there is a system of waterways that are used as roads by the people. People use boats instead of cars to carry goods. Some boats transport people to and from work.
- _____
- _____

4. We went to the first baseball game of the season. A foul ball was hit into our section. I was competing with hundreds of other people to snag a foul ball and I actually got one.

5. His landlord doubled the rent. His boss doubled his workload. His paycheck was half of what it usually was.

6. Africa's Sahara grows larger every year. Overgrazing and poor farming methods are eroding the once fertile soil.

7. The city streets were filled with people. Then the dark clouds moved in. At that point everyone disappeared.

8. The hike into the canyon was relatively easy. We forgot that hiking out of the canyon would be all uphill. We were tired, sore, and thirsty by the time we got back.

9. The quarterback fumbled the ball in the first quarter. He stumbled and fell in the second quarter. He bungled the play in the third quarter. By the fourth quarter all hope for winning the game had crumbled.

10. Rachel Carson was a scientist and nature-lover. She wrote the book Silent Spring. The book revealed the dangerous effects of some pesticides on wildlife.

► Exercise 2 Use the subject, verb, and object provided to write one active-voice sentence and one passive-voice sentence.

grandfather, gave, watch

Active: My grandfather gave me a watch for graduation.

Passive: For graduation I was given a watch by my grandfather.

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

1. he, completed, final exam

Active: _____

Passive: _____

2. twenty fans, blocked, entrance

Active: _____

Passive: _____

3. Paulo, resolved, conflict

Active: _____

Passive: _____

4. Painter, applied, color

Active: _____

Passive: _____

5. Hannah, purchased, red vest

Active: _____

Passive: _____

6. Scouts, packed, first-aid kit

Active: _____

Passive: _____

7. Franklin, borrowed, money

Active: _____

Passive: _____

8. Sara and Mallory, saw, movie

Active: _____

Passive: _____

9. Shakespeare, wrote, plays

Active: _____

Passive: _____

10. Collision, shattered, windshield

Active: _____

Passive: _____

Lesson 108Building Paragraphs

Supporting details in a paragraph can be arranged in several ways. Chronological order places events in the order in which they happened. Spatial order describes how objects might appear to an observer. Compare/contrast order shows similarities and differences among the items you are writing about.

The first of the following paragraphs illustrates the use of chronological order; the second, spatial order; and the third, compare/contrast order.

We arrived in New York at 5:05, just in time for rush hour. It was 6:15 by the time our cab driver inched his way to our hotel. We had just enough time to scramble out of the taxi and run to our rooms to get ready. We wanted to be there when the curtain opened at 7:00.

When we flew into New York I was surprised to see the layers and layers of tall buildings on what seemed like such a tiny island. As I hailed a cab, I became instantly aware of the crush of people and cars in this bustling city. Traffic was bumper-to-bumper, and horns blared as cars and buses jockeyed for position. I was anxious to get to my hotel room where I might find a few minutes of solace behind a closed door.

Some people describe New York as a city with the best and worst of everything. It has some of the world's top artists, most successful businesses, and most impressive museums, but it's also overcrowded, expensive, and has a high rate of crime. Most people say they either love or hate the city of New York. Few visitors leave the city without forming any opinion at all.

► Exercise 1 Read each sentence. Write C if you think the sentence would most likely appear in a paragraph using chronological order, S if it would appear in a paragraph using spatial order, and CC if it would appear in a paragraph using compare/contrast order.

- CC The British game of cricket and the American game of baseball have many similarities.
- _____ 1. As you walk into the building, you'll see a mirrored wall to the left and a marble staircase to the right.
- _____ 2. I'm still trying to decide whether to take the Chinese cooking class or the oil painting class.
- _____ 3. The gift from my aunt was wrapped in bright green paper with a bright yellow ribbon.
- _____ 4. Before you plant your garden, turn over the soil and add fertilizer.
- _____ 5. The doctor told me to take the pills she gave me and then call her in two weeks.
- _____ 6. Her bright red dress and flowered hat made her stand out in the crowd.
- _____ 7. The animal and plant life in the Himalayas changes dramatically as you move to higher elevations.

- _____ Here is what you need to do if you want to open a checking account.
- _____ Inside the checkbook is a check register where you can record the checks you write and their amount.

► Exercise 3 Use the details below and your own knowledge to write a paragraph about the sport of lacrosse. Your paragraph can be written in either chronological, spatial, or compare/contrast order. Indicate which order you are going to use. Answers will vary.

Lacrosse originated with the Native Americans.

Native American teams had as many as 200 people to a side.

The Native American game was called “baggataway.”

The game was later named “lacrosse” by French Canadians, because the netted stick used to throw the ball resembled a cross.

The first modern game was played by two Native American teams in 1834 using formal rules on an enclosed field.

Lacrosse is a team sport.

Players use a netted stick to throw or hit a ball into a goal net.

A lacrosse ball is a little smaller than a baseball and is made of rubber.

A lacrosse field is 110 yards long.

A men’s team is made up of 10 players and a women’s team has 12 players.

Players pass the ball back and forth by flipping the crosse with their wrists.

Only goalies can use their hands to deflect the ball.

Games are divided into four 25-minute periods.

► Exercise 4 Choose one topic from the list below. Use the same topic to write one paragraph using chronological order, one using spatial order, and one using compare/contrast order.

Answers will vary.

- your favorite or least favorite movie
- an embarrassing moment
- a trait or habit someone has that bothers you
- your dream vacation
- what you would do if you were the last person left in the world
- a description of someone you admire

Chronological order:

Spatial order:

Lesson 109

Paragraph Ordering

When you revise a first draft, check the unity and coherence of paragraphs. Each paragraph should include a topic sentence, which states the main idea of the paragraph, as well as supporting details related to the topic sentence. Be sure the comparisons are understandable. Check chronological details for proper order and make sure that spatial details are clear. Finally, link the ideas together properly by using effective transitions.

► Exercise 1 Revise the following paragraphs for unity and coherence. Rewrite the paragraphs based on your revisions.

There are about a half a million Cajuns in the state of Louisiana. Did you know that they are originally from Canada? In the 1700s thousands of French settlers called “Acadians” lived in eastern Canada. The Cajuns are ancestors of this group of French settlers in Canada. Canada was controlled by Britain then. The Acadians were deported from Canada when France and Britain went to war. The British deported them because they would not support Britain in the war.

British soldiers put the Acadians on ships. Some made it back to France, but many died. Some—about 4,000—made it to Louisiana. Some settled on the eastern coast of the United States. The Acadians are the ancestors of the Cajuns who live in Louisiana today.

Today in Louisiana some of the Cajuns are farmers. Some fish for a living. Some Cajuns have ranches. There are some interesting things about the Cajun culture. They speak a dialect of the French language. They are known for their spicy foods. Their music is also very popular and is played on fiddles and accordion-like instruments called “squeeze boxes.”

Some Acadians were able to return to Canada. Many live there today. Most are living in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island. The Acadians, like the Cajuns, have their own unique culture. Many of the Acadians still have Cajun relatives. These Cajun relatives live in the state of Louisiana.

Lesson 110

Personal Letters

A personal letter is usually a letter to a friend or a relative written in an informal tone. Personal letters are written to inform others of recent events in your life and to ask the recipient questions about his or her life. Personal letters often contain your opinions, thoughts, and feelings about various topics. They can help maintain friendships and deepen understanding between two people. A personal letter can also be an invitation or a thank-you note.

Personal letters are usually written in indented form. Each paragraph is indented, as well as each line in the heading, the complimentary close, and the signature.

► Exercise 1 Read the following personal letter. Answer each question.

2320 Sawmill Drive
 Montgomery, TX 75081
 July 24, 1996

Dear Nora,

You probably are wondering why I haven't written. We promised each other when you moved that we would write each other every week. I'm sorry, and I vow to do better!

It's been a crazy summer for me. I took the job I told you about at the hospital, and I'm working four days a week. I work in the children's ward with a woman who plans activities for the children. We put on puppet shows, do art projects, and most of the time just play with the kids. Some of the kids don't have many visitors, so it makes me feel really good to spend time with them.

I had lunch with Gina and Coretta yesterday. We all miss you and are anxious to see you when you come in August. We're planning a party so we can spend some time together. Is that OK with you? I hope everything is going well for you. Let me know how your interview for the new job went. Miss you!

Your friend,
Anna

1. What is the relationship between Anna and Nora? _____

2. Why do you think Anna wrote this letter to Nora? _____

3. How is this a good example of a personal letter? _____

Different situations call for different kinds of personal letters. You would probably use a different tone and style in writing to an adult than you would use in writing to your best friend. Your letter to your relative would probably be more formal, while you might make use of slang or secret code words in writing to your best friend. You would also use a different tone and style when writing to a favorite author, performer, or sports figure.

► Exercise 3 Write a letter to an adult relative telling him or her about your plans after graduation. Your letter will also give you an opportunity to invite the relative to your graduation ceremony.

Lesson 111

Business Letters: Letters of Request and Complaint

A letter of request is a letter that asks for information or service. When you write a letter of request, always be clear and courteous. Explain what information you need and why you need it. Include any information the receiver may need to answer your request.

► Exercise 1 Examine the following letter. Is it a good example of a letter of request? Why or why not? Write your critique below.

Dear College Admissions Department:

I need some information. I want to attend your school next year and will need some sort of financial aid. Can you send me something on this? I don't have much time so you'll need to get it to me as quickly as you can, OK?

Sincerely,
Brad Franklin

► Exercise 2 Write a short letter requesting information on one of the following topics. Use proper business-letter format.

a letter to one of your senators requesting information on her or his voting record on a particular issue a letter to an art school requesting more information on a class you are interested in taking a letter to a recreation center asking if they need anyone to volunteer as a referee for the summer

A letter of complaint describes a problem or concern and sometimes is a request for action. It should be clear, concise, and reasonable. Never let your anger show when writing a letter of complaint. Avoid insults and threats. Begin by stating the problem and telling briefly how it happened. Then use supporting details as evidence of your problem. End your letter by explaining what you would like done about the matter.

► Exercise 3 Read the following letter of complaint. Describe any problems and suggest how to correct them.

8614 14th Street
 New York, New York 10036
 September 20, 1996

Dear Cinema One Manager:

I can't believe what you did to my friend and me the other night. We paid good money to get into your seven o'clock show, but when we walked into the theater it was completely packed. We asked for our money back and they said "Forget it!" They said there were two seats in the first row and to take them or else. You must be crazy to think anyone would want to sit in the front row. I haven't done that since I was five years old! Hey mister, we want our money back or free tickets to another show. Do I have to call a lawyer?

Not sincerely,
Shannon Crawford

► Exercise 4 Revise and rewrite the above letter of complaint.

Lesson 112

Business Letters: Résumés and Cover Letters

A résumé is a summary of your work experience, school experience, talents, and interests. You use it to apply for a job or for admittance into a school or academic program. A résumé should be clear, concise, expressive, and informative. Because a résumé is a summary, it is not necessary to use complete sentences. However, the format you use should be consistent, as in the following example.

Lionel Jefferson
1804 Becker Street
Atlanta, GA 30303
(404) 964-3209

Objective: Full-time summer employment as a park ranger assistant
Work Experience: Volunteer nature tour leader, Metropolitan Park
Education: King High School, September 1995–present, 3.0 grade point average Atlanta Middle School, August 1992–1994, 3.3 grade point average
Accomplishments: Community service award for participation in river cleanup program; president of student chapter of Sierra Club
References: Martin Pavlich, teacher, King High School (404) 555-6340
Julia Harmon, Park Ranger, Metropolitan Park (404) 555-8787

► Exercise 1 Write a résumé to apply for one of the following:

- summer job as a lifeguard
- part-time job at a recreation center or daycare center
- scholarship to pay for a summer computer camp
- membership in an honors science class

A cover letter is a brief letter of introduction that usually accompanies a résumé. It states what you are applying for and where you can be contacted. It also refers the reader to your résumé for additional information. By using your cover letter to call attention to certain abilities, interests, and experiences, you can create a “customized” presentation, tailored to a specific job or program.

The following is an example of a well-formatted, concise cover letter. Note that the letter follows business letter style rules and that it is directed to a specific person.

Lionel Jefferson
1804 Becker Street
Atlanta, GA 30303
(404) 964-3209

Mr. Howard Ramirez
Director, Georgia State Parks
678 River Valley Road
Atlanta, GA 30306
April 16, 1996

Dear Mr. Ramirez:

I am responding to the notice that you posted on the King High School job search board. I am a senior at King High School in Atlanta and am interested in obtaining full-time summer employment as a park ranger assistant. I am very interested in nature studies and plan to major in natural resources management when I attend Community College in the fall.

I have worked at Atlanta’s Metropolitan Park as a tour guide and am familiar with some of the responsibilities of park management. I am a hard worker and am anxious to gain more experience in this field. I hope you find that my qualifications meet some of your needs at this time. I have enclosed a copy of my résumé for your review.

Sincerely,
Lionel Jefferson

► Exercise 2 Write a cover letter to send with the résumé that you wrote in Exercise 1.
