Daddy: Don't worry, Peppa! I'm an expert at camping!
Mummy Pig, put the tent on the poles, please.
That's it! Easy as pie! Oh!

Mummy: Do these pegs do anything?

Daddy: Of course! I forgot about the pegs!

Narrator: The pegs hold the tent up.

Daddy: There!

Peppa: The tent is a bit little.

Daddy: It was big enough for me when I was a boy.
But it does look a bit small now...

Mummy: That's because you've grown a bit since you were a boy, Daddy Pig!

Peppa: And your tummy has grown the most of all!

Daddy: Talking of tummies, We should cook supper!

Peppa: Yes! Yes!

Daddy: First, we have to collect sticks to make a fire.

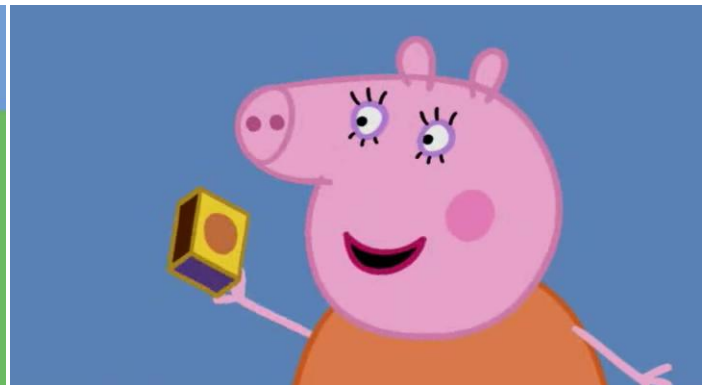

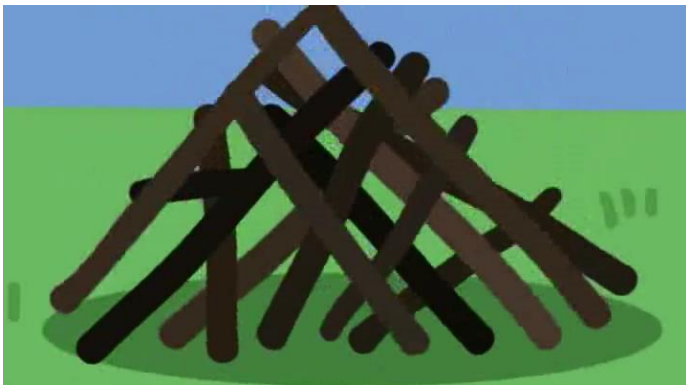

Peppa: Yipee!

Narrator: Peppa and George are helping Daddy Pig collect sticks for the campfire.

Peppa: George, I'll pick up the sticks and you can carry them. Collecting sticks is fun!

Daddy: Good. That's enough sticks.

Daddy: That's a splendid campfire! Now I'll light it.

Mummy: Here are the matches.

Daddy: We don't need matches!

Peppa: Daddy, how can you light it without matches?

Daddy: I'm going to make fire the old way, by simply rubbing these two sticks together!

Narrator: Daddy Pig is rubbing the two sticks together to light the campfire.

Peppa: Where is the fire, Daddy?

Daddy: Nearly there...

Mummy & Peppa: Hurray!

Daddy: Easy as pie!

Mummy: Now we can heat up the tomato soup.

Daddy: Ahhh! Listen to the sounds of nature!

Peppa: What is that sound?

Daddy: That is the sound of crickets chirping.

Peppa: What is that?

Mummy: That's an owl.

Mummy: Look! There it is!

Peppa: WoW... And what's that noise?

Mummy: Oh, I'm not sure.

Peppa: It's Daddy's tummy!

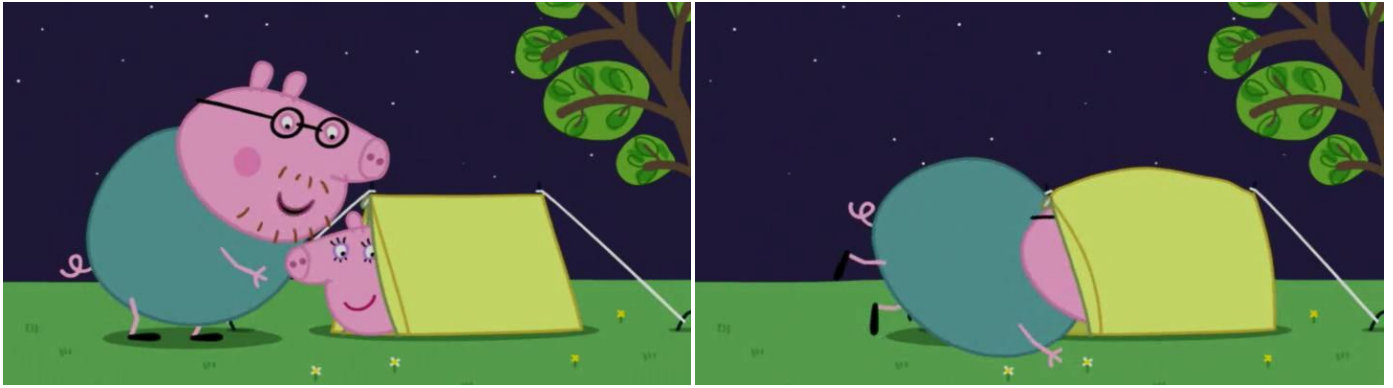

Daddy: My tummy rumbling is one of the best sounds of nature! It means it's time to eat!

Peppa: I love tomato soup!

Daddy: So do I!

Mummy: There's another one of Daddy Pig's sounds of nature!

Daddy: Eh? what?

Mummy: Come on, children, into the tent, it's bedtime.

Peppa: We won't all fit in! The tent is too little!

Daddy: It will be fine! In you go!

Move further in, Mummy Pig!

Peppa: Daddy, you're too big for the tent!

Daddy: Never mind, I'd rather sleep outside anyway.

Mummy: : Goodnight, Daddy Pig!

Peppa: Goodnight, Daddy!

George: Night! Night!

Daddy: Goodnight, everyone!

Narrator: Mummy Pig, Peppa and George are sleeping in the tent. Daddy Pig is sleeping outside, under the stars.

Daddy: Ahh! I love camping! Sleeping in the open air with the stars above me!
Maybe this wasn't such a good idea after all...brrrrrr

Narrator: It is morning.

Peppa: Daddy! It was lovely and cozy in the tent!
Oh... where's Daddy?

Narrator: Daddy Pig has gone!

Mummy: Poor Daddy Pig. He must have been cold and wet. And now where is he?
What's that sound?

Peppa: It sounds like snoring!
Daddy Pig!

Daddy: What?

Peppa: Daddy, you're safe!

Daddy: Of course I'm safe!
I'm an expert at camping!
I slept in the car.

Peppa: Silly Daddy!

Daddy: I love camping!
