

WHAT'S MY JOB?

In this entertaining teaching activity, students practice describing different jobs.

Before class, make one copy of the worksheet for each group of four and cut into cards as indicated.

Procedure

Tell the students that they are going to practice describing jobs to their classmates.

Demonstrate the activity by choosing a job not on the cards, e.g. a waiter.

Then give clues for the students to guess.

Examples:

I work inside.

I greet customers.

I take payment and give change. I sometimes recommend things. I serve food and drink.

Divide the class into groups of four.

Give each group a set of shuffled cards and ask them to place the cards in a pile, face down on the desk.

Each student takes a card. The students then have one minute to prepare five clues for their group members. Tell the students to try not to make their clues too easy.

They take turns to give their clues and the other students try to guess the job. If a student guesses correctly, that student gets a point and wins the card.

If no one guesses correctly, the student with the card gets a point and keeps the card. Students repeat the procedure until all the cards are finished.

The student with the most points at the end of the game is the winner.

This game can also be played in two teams with students coming to the front of the class to give their clues. The first team to guess the job wins a point.

For lower-level students, you can have the students mime the jobs for the other students to guess.

You're a musician.	You're a chef.
You're an electrician.	You're a software developer.
You're an artist.	You're a social worker.
You're a firefighter.	You're a photographer.
You're a dentist.	You're an actor / actress.
You're a car mechanic.	You're a fitness instructor.
You're a pilot.	You're a nurse.
You're an archeologist.	You're an architect.
You're a carpenter.	You're a police officer.
You're an estate agent.	You're a secretary.
You're an engineer.	You're a doctor.
You're a fashion designer.	You're a lawyer.

You're a librarian.	You're a marine biologist.
You're a chemist.	You're a farmer.
You're a veterinarian.	You're a teacher.
You're a web developer.	You're a zoo keeper.
You're a super saiyan.	You're a dog food taster.
You're Doraemon.	You're a train pusher.
You're a zombie hunter.	You're a superhero.
You're a vampire hunter.	You're an odour tester.
You're a goat herder.	You're an IMAX screen cleaner.
You're a zebra salesperson.	You're a fire breather.
You're a gumologist.	You're a dragon slayer.
You're a king.	You're a juggler.

You're a queen.	You're a comedian
You're a knight.	You're a travelling donkey salesperson.
You're a puddler.	You're a candystick maker.
You're a fletcher.	You're a lawyer.
You're a penguin farmer.	You're a marine biologist.
You're a golf ball diver.	You're a farmer.
You're a dice quality inspector.	You're a teacher.
You're a full-time netflix viewer.	You're a zoo keeper.