

THE WINGS I FOUND

This year, our family decided to take a trip to the island of Crete in Greece. I was bored swimming at the beach with my sister so I decided to go for a hike in the mountains. Soon, however, I got lost. And then I found a peculiar smooth stone with the word ‘Icarus’ on it. I looked behind the stone and there was something strange. There were two pairs of wings, one of them was broken and one of them was in perfect condition. So I tried the wings on and they fit me just right...

---

---

---

---

---

---